2009-10 Annual Report

Bronx Preparatory Charter School

MODIFICATIONS TO THE SCHOOL'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM AND GOVERNANCE STRUCTURE

Describe any significant changes to the school's educational program as well as its governance structure. If there are no changes, please indicate N/A.

The 2009-2010 school year marked Bronx Preparatory Charter School's 10th anniversary year of service to young people and families in the South Bronx. We recognized that the timing of this anniversary provided a unique opportunity not only to celebrate all of the good things which we have accomplished together in these first ten years, but also to challenge and demand of ourselves truly great things in the next ten years. Our mission is clear: to prepare our scholars for higher education, community involvement, and lifelong success through a structured, caring environment of high academic and social expectations. Reflection on the occasion of our 10th anniversary made an immediate task clear: to address what had become a growing gap between the middle and high school.

In recognition of the fact that our ultimate success as a 5-12 school community hinges in part on the extent to which we strengthen connections, provide a truly rigorous college preparatory continuum of learning, and support student transitions between the middle and high school divisions and ultimately between high school and college, we are taking the next critical step in our evolution and formally unifying our school under the instructional leadership of one principal. With clear understanding that we have within our community professionals who are amongst the most highly skilled and talented in our profession, and who have demonstrated extremely impressive track records of achievement in terms of student performance and faculty accomplishments, we called on our middle school principal, Jacqueline King-Robinson to serve as school wide principal beginning in school year 2010-2011.

With instructional leadership solidly under the auspices of a schoolwide principal, we are aligning all of the other critical components of our work to key leadership positions in the form of assistant principals. The assistant principals are each responsible for a key element of our work which we believe is necessary to fully achieve our mission:

Assistant Principal for Curriculum and Instruction is the lead administrator who will ensure that our faculty provides high quality, intellectually demanding core curriculum and instruction to every scholar in every classroom every day;

Assistant Principal for Learning Enhancement is the lead administrator who will ensure that every student receives academic supports needed to achieve their greatest potential whether that support requires special education and/or related services, English language acquisition services, mentoring, or advanced study;

Assistant Principal for Student Life is the lead administrator who will ensure that scholars have the supports needed to both meet and refine the social expectations that define the Bronx Prep culture while they are on campus and/or off site deepening their spirit of service and community involvement, developing leadership skills, and exploring other growth opportunities; and

Assistant Principal for Academic Advancement and Transitions is the lead administrator who will ensure that there is a continuum of learning opportunities that includes a wide array of honors courses, programs, and advanced placement study as well as specifically structured experiences as scholars transition from middle school to high school and from high school to college.

The team of assistant principals will not only continue to provide peer coaching to faculty in their respective areas of academic expertise, but also will work closely with the grade level team leaders to ensure that leadership is strategically distributed and effectively impacts each and every scholar.

The attached organizational chart maps out the reporting and support structure that is described above. We believe that this new structure will allow us to most effectively organize and maximize all resources, particularly our human capital, in service of our mission.
