

SCIENCE OF READING CENTER

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK NEW PALTZ

More information

Offering a hub for educators with a shared mission of improving literacy outcomes for children across the U.S., by promoting research-backed knowledge and practices that are proven to help learners gain skills as readers.

The Center is a source for:

- Continuing Education Microcredentials
- Live Events and Webinars
- Professional Networking
- School District and Education Department Partnerships

“It is great for someone who is just learning or for someone who has some knowledge, but wants to expand their understanding even more.”

—Stefanie Pacheco
Primrose Elementary School,
2nd & 3rd grade teacher

- ✓ Including the Science of Reading Fundamentals Microcredential A fully online, self-paced microcredential rooted in the research-based pillars of effective reading instruction: Phonemic Awareness, Phonics, Fluency, Vocabulary and Comprehension.
- ✓ More than 15,000 educators and school leaders have already enrolled!
- ✓ $50 for individuals
- ✓ Group plans available for districts—contact us today and join our network!
scienceofreading@newpaltz.edu
- ✓ Continuing Education Credits for New York educators
- ✓ We can improve literacy outcomes together.
66% of fourth-graders in the United States read “below proficient” according to the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). Low-income and minority children fare even worse.

New Paltz
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Together, we can improve literacy rates nationwide.