(c) Promotion Policy

Explain the process and criteria your school will use for promoting students from grade to grade.

The school will use Fountas & Pinnell (F&P) and other benchmark assessments, outlined in Attachment 12(a), to track and gauge student growth towards end of year goals. Student promotion will be determined based on student attainment of end of year goals and growth throughout the year. The school will build a review of student growth and academic progress into each six to eight week cycle of RTI and assessment review. In addition, the school will keep parents abreast of student progress towards end of year goals and readiness for promotion to the following grade. The principal shall make the final decision regarding student promotion in consultation with the students' classroom teachers, other leaders, the student achievement coordinator, and special education coordinators, as applicable.

13. At-Risk Students

(a) Students with Disabilities

Discuss the proposed school's methods and strategies for identifying and serving students with disabilities in compliance with all federal laws and regulations. In answering please describe:

- The proposed charter school's process for identifying students with disabilities (child find);
- The school's Response to Intervention (RTI) process for identifying and providing services for students with disabilities and other students including the identification of students with specific learning disabilities, and early intervening strategies, if any, if applicable.
- The kinds and types of services and related services the school is likely to provide directly (both within general education classrooms and in other settings);
- The kinds and types of services and related services that will be provided by the school district of the student's residency or through a third party contract;
- The resources the school will devote to serving students with disabilities, e.g., planning time, instructional materials, technology, professional development, staff and consultants, etc.;
- Any research or evidence that supports the appropriateness of the school's approach to serving students with disabilities;
- The personnel that the school will specifically devote to serving students with disabilities (and the associated administrative responsibilities) including a special education coordinator;
- The process for coordination between general education teachers and special education teachers or service providers;
- The process that will be used to monitor the achievement and progress of students with disabilities; and
- The process that will be used to evaluate the efficacy of the program and ensure that the needs of these students are being met.

Schools in the Success Charter Network (SCN) educate students with disabilities in the least restrictive environment, with their non-disabled peers to the extent appropriate and allowed by each student's individualized education program (IEP) prepared by the Committee on Special Education (CSE) of the student's school district of residence and all applicable federal laws, including the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). The school shall not discriminate in admission and enrollment practices on the basis of a student having or suspected of having a disability.

SCN schools encourage the application of special education students and have a strong commitment to ensuring that all children learn at exceptionally high levels. To ensure that they do, all schools have special education teams in place from the time of opening, including student achievement coordinators, special education teachers, speech therapists, and occupational therapists. The school will use a Response to Intervention (RTI) framework to ascertain early identification without over identification and to ensure that all teachers have complete ownership and a sense of accountability tied to data in order to provide the supports students need to meet our ambitious academic goals. This RTI process is tracked closely by the school's student achievement coordinator to ensure the provision of extensive support and consistent tracking of student progress. The school will hold school-wide RTI meetings every six to eight weeks, aligned with the assessment cycles, in which faculty and leaders meet to analyze school-wide, grade, class and individual student data, and then create targeted intervention groups designed to most effectively address student needs. Through the RTI process, teachers develop group and individual student intervention plans that, along with students' IEPs, ensure that students are on track to achieve at- or above grade level and to meet or exceed the school's rigorous accountability goals. If a student continues to struggle academically after targeted interventions through the RTI process, the school will initiate an initial referral process through the Committee on Special Education (CSE) to determine if special education services are required to provide the student with the supports needed.

All special education programs and services at the school will be provided in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations and in accordance with the student's IEP. The school will hire appropriately certified special education staff members that will likely include, but not be limited to, a special education teacher, a speech pathologist, an occupational therapist, and a mental health provider. The school will also have the equivalent of a resource room available. The Success Charter Network employs personnel who are experienced in dealing with special education administrative responsibilities. These personnel will be able to guide and assist the school. In addition, these personnel will work closely with the CSE to ensure appropriate and supportive student special education services are in place for students with IEPs.

In accordance with students' IEPs, special education staff will ensure that classroom teachers at the school are knowledgeable about the needs of students with disabilities, are informed of their responsibilities for particular students, receive the support they may require to implement a student's program, and implement any necessary modifications or accommodations in their classes. The school staff, including the special education personnel, will meet to collaborate on special education student progress. The special education personnel will coordinate their services with the relevant general education teachers through meetings, the school-wide RTI and data review professional development sessions and through informal communication. In addition, the entire staff and special education staff will have professional development throughout the school year devoted to interventions for students, RTI, how to collaborate to ensure student success, and specific special education supports for students with IEPs.

If the school is unable to directly provide services to the extent necessary, it will rely on the school district of the student's residence to provide services. If necessary and feasible, the school also shall contract with appropriately certified or licensed individuals to provide services under our direction. The services to be provided by the school may include, but are not limited to:

- Speech language pathology
- Psychological services
- Occupational or physical therapy
- Special education teacher support services
- Early rehabilitation counseling
- Diagnostic and/or evaluative services
- Student counseling
- Academic programs such as Collaborative Team Teaching

The above list consists of the specific services the school anticipates it will need based on the needs of the special education populations at the seven existing Success Charter Network schools.

If the school's special education professionals determine that a child's IEP may no longer be appropriate to the child's needs and may not maximize the child's ability to receive a free and appropriate public education in the least restrictive environment, they may recommend that the CSE of the child's district of residence conduct a re-evaluation of the IEP.

Success Charter Network schools encourage students with disabilities to submit applications and recruit students through a variety of methods including:

- Mailings to residents of the school district of location
- Flyers and advertisements posted in local newspapers, supermarkets, community centers, and apartment complexes
- Informational sessions conducted at public and private schools, after school programs, and youth centers

These general recruitment strategies combined with the school's strong special education program will ensure that the school has a comparable enrollment of ELL students and students with disabilities relative to other schools located in the same district.

The Success Charter Network is confident that it can adequately serve special education students. In the 2009-2010 academic year, 13.2% of the Success Academies' scholars had IEPs and received special education services. To compare the academic prospects of this cohort against that of the overall student body, we can look to performance on the Fountas & Pinnell (F&P) reading test. This is a test administered to every student across the network of SCN schools. Test results show that while special education students performed lower than the rest of the student body, they grew at a faster rate. All scholars are assessed in September and April of each school year, allowing the school to have a clear baseline score and clearly measure achievement growth over the course of the year. While most scholars in the Success Academies perform exceptionally well, the data clearly show that the SCN special education program enables students with disabilities to make rapid progress toward matching their general education peers.

The data suggest that special education students grew at a faster rate. In every grade for which beginning and end of year data are available, the difference between the percent of students reading on grade level in April versus September is greater for special education students. (Note: we do not administer the F&P test to kindergartners at the beginning of the year because we believe the students' academic and social readiness makes the results less reliable.)

We are confident that special education students will continue to grow at a faster rate than the overall student body, which will further close the achievement gap between these two cohorts. As we become more effective at implementing our Response to Intervention (RTI) model, we expect the share of special education students reading on grade level to more closely match the overall student body. This being our second year implementing RTI across the SCN schools, we are both encouraged by how well our special education students have grown and charged to do much better.

We will continue to use F&P and our other benchmark assessments outlined in Attachment 12a to track and gauge special education student growth and to evaluate the efficacy of our special education program.

(b) English Language Learners

Discuss the proposed school's methods and strategies for identifying and serving students who are English language learners in compliance with all federal laws and regulations. In answering please describe:

- The process for identifying and placing students whose first language is not English and the methods for determining the kinds of assistance that these students may need;
- The approach the school will take to meet the needs of English language learners (both within general education classrooms and in other settings);
- The resources the school will devote to serving English language learners (e.g., planning time, instructional materials, technology, professional development, staff and consultants, etc.);
- Any research or evidence that supports the appropriateness of this approach;

- The personnel that the school will devote to serving English language learners (and the associated administrative responsibilities) including an optional English language learner coordinator, and who will be responsible for evaluation the effectiveness of English language learner instruction provided;

- The qualifications of the personnel that will be providing instruction to English language learners including, if such persons will not be State certified, specific qualifications in terms of language proficiency, academic credit, teaching experience, professional development specific to English language learner instruction;

- The process for coordination between general education teachers and staff serving English language learners;

- The process that will be used to monitor the achievement and progress of English language learners, including exit criteria;

- The process that will be used to evaluate the efficacy of the program and ensure that the needs of these students are being met; and

- How the school will make all necessary materials available to parents of English language learners in a language that they can understand.

The school shall serve any and all students with limited English proficiency using English language immersion so that they will achieve proficiency in the English language as quickly as possible. The school shall comply with all applicable laws including Title VI of the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Equal Educational Opportunities Act of 1974, "No Child Left Behind," and federal case law.

Students at the school with limited proficiency in English will achieve proficiency in the English language as quickly as possible through the use of the school's services and teaching methods. The school ensures that ELL students will not be excluded from curricular and extra-curricular activities based on an inability to speak and understand the language of instruction, and also that ELL students will not be assigned to special education because of their lack of English proficiency. Parental outreach and recruitment activities will also be conducted in multiple languages so as to effectively reach all members of the school's community.

The school will use the State Education Department's process for identifying students who are English Language Learners as follows:

- Home Language Questionnaires will be used to screen all new enrollees for potential limited English proficiency.
- If the home language is other than English or the student's native language is other than English, appropriate school staff will conduct an informal interview in the student's native language, whenever possible, and in English.

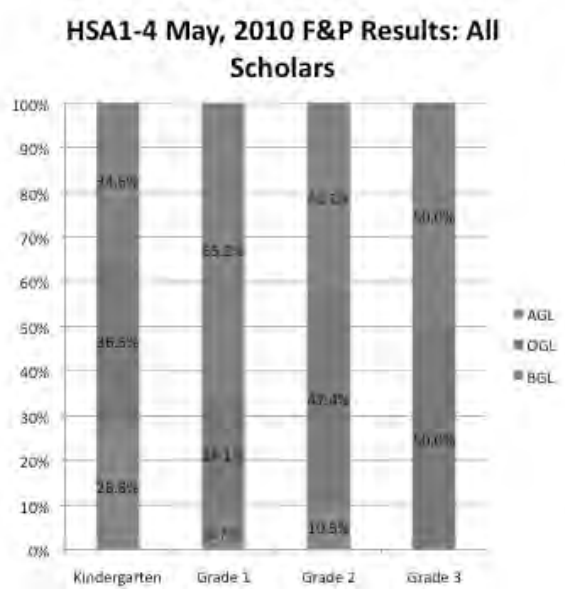
- If the student speaks a language other than English and the student speaks little or no English, the school will administer the Language Assessment Battery – Revised (LAB-R). A score below the designated cut score for the child shall determine eligibility for services. The LAB-R shall be administered only once to each incoming student.

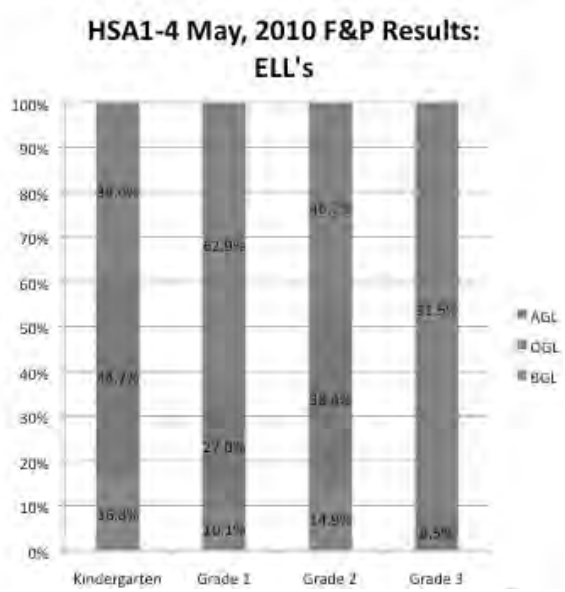
The school's teachers will be responsible for observing each student throughout the year with an eye toward detecting limited English proficiency. Teachers will receive professional development training in literacy and math that supports the identification of possible English language learners and strategies to support them within the curriculum. Such activities will focus on the language, instructional methodologies including ESL methods for teaching different subject areas, and support services appropriate for learners of a second language. ELL strategies will be incorporated into the school's RTI process. The student achievement coordinator will manage the identification of possible ELL students and the provision of intervention supports as needed.

Inclusion in ELL support services will not supersede participation in regular curricular or extra-curricular activities. ELL students will never be categorically excluded from any activities on the basis of their language proficiency.

All ELL students will be expected to become proficient in the English language at a rapid pace. To accomplish this, the school will implement an English immersion program that will help ELL students improve their abilities and master the language. All instruction will be in English. However, the level of English used – both written and oral – will have appropriate scaffolds for each ELL student. Within the school's extended day schedule, there is ample time that can be used for additional intensive English language instruction. In addition, the core curriculum and school design of Success Charter Network schools is designed to support all scholars, including ELL students. For instance, THINK literacy interactive read aloud with whole class conversation supports oral language development, vocabulary, and speaking skills targeted to meet the needs of ELL students.

The Success Charter Network is confident that it can adequately serve ELL students. A comparison of 2009-2010 Fountas and Pinnell (F&P) and Writing Prompt data indicate that there is no discrepancy between academic performance of ELL students to the general student population. In some cases, the ELL scholars even outperformed the rest of the student body. The graph below shows the F&P May results from 2009-2010 for all Success Charter Network scholars as compared to ELL students.





The school will provide all necessary staff and specialized curricular materials to enable ELL students to achieve the school's ambitious student performance goals. Curricular materials and facilities for the implementation of the instructional program for ELL students shall not be inferior to those materials and facilities available to English proficient students and will be of at least equal quality and quantity as available to the general population. The school will be prepared to address the needs of students who are struggling with the English immersion program by providing, if it is determined to be the best course of action, pull-out instruction targeted to the student's needs. The school will ensure collaboration between general education teachers and any staff providing ELL supports or instruction through staff meetings, professional development and the RTI process.

An ELL student's proficiency in the English language will be measured at least annually to determine whether continued special services are warranted. The school will evaluate each student's performance in academic content areas to measure the student's progress in core subjects. The school will also use the New York State English as a Second Language Achievement Test (NYSESLAT) to assess ELL students. The scores on the NYSESLAT indicate the proficiency level – beginning, intermediate, or advanced – the student has achieved each year and whether the student's level of English is high enough to exit the program. The proficiency levels attained on the NYSESLAT will be used to determine whether a student should be graduated from or continue in the ELL program.

If an ELL student fails to show appropriate progress in these academic areas, modifications to the program may be made. Any student classified and receiving education services as an ELL student who subsequently tests high enough to exit the program will be deemed to be no longer in need of ELL services. No student will be exited from the ELL program unless he/she can read, write, and comprehend English well enough to participate meaningfully in the school's programs.

In order to ensure that the ELL program is achieving the desired results (students are making progress in the acquisition of the English language and are making progress academically), an annual evaluation will occur. In order to determine if any programmatic modifications are necessary, the school will evaluate the progress of its ELL students on standardized assessments and non-standardized assessments against that of the non-ELL students. The school will also track students longitudinally throughout their enrollment in the school to determine if there is a significant variation in the academic achievement of students who were once classified as ELL and non-ELL students as measured by standardized assessments and non-standardized assessments. The school will track how many students are declassified as ELL and the number of instructional years it takes for this declassification to occur. The school will continue to use F&P, NYSESLAT and our other benchmark assessments outlined in Attachment 12(a) to track and gauge English Language Learner student growth and to evaluate the efficacy of our English Language Learner program.

(c) Struggling Students

Discuss the proposed school's methods and strategies for identifying and serving students who are struggling academically and at risk of academic failure. In answering, please describe:

- How the school will determine and identify which students are struggling, including within the context of the school's RTI process. The applicant should define the term "struggling student" as s/he deems appropriate;
- How an appropriate RTI program will be implemented in the school and used to identify and address the needs of struggling learners;
- The strategies and/or programs the school will use to meet the needs of struggling students (both within general education classrooms and in other settings);
- The resources the school will devote to serving struggling students, e.g., planning time, small group instruction, tutoring, targeted assistance, technology, staff and consultants, etc.
- Any research or evidence that supports the appropriateness of this approach;
- The personnel that the school will devote to serving struggling students;
- The process that will be used to monitor the achievement and progress of struggling students; and
- The process that will be used to evaluate the efficacy of the program and ensure that the needs of these students are being met.

The proposed schools will serve a particularly high-risk population. Students in New York City School District 13 consistently perform poorly on state and city assessments. Only 43 % of students in grades 3, 4 and 5 met the most basic standards of the 2010 English Language Arts assessments. In addition, only 52 % of District 13 students in grades 3, 4 and 5 met the basic standards of the 2010 Mathematics assessments. In addition, students in New York City School District 14 consistently perform poorly on state and city assessments. Only 39 % of students in grades 3, 4, and 5 met the most basic standards of the 2010 English Language Arts assessments. In addition, only 51 % of District 14 students in grades 3, 4, and 5 met the basic standards of the 2010 Mathematics assessments.

Once these at risk students are attending the school, the Success Charter Network curriculum is designed to serve them. Our core THINK literacy curriculum is designed to meet students at their individual reading and writing level in a rigorous way. Another component of the instructional program, Success for All (SFA) is currently in use in the Success Academies as well as other charter schools around the country with similar demographics to the Harlem population that will be served by this school. The curricula is research-based and designed to provide rigorous instruction that meets the needs of at-risk students through targeted whole-class instruction and flexible small groups throughout the day.

Beginning in first grade, students are grouped across classes and grades by reading ability level. Regrouping gives each teacher the opportunity to work intensively with students one reading level at a time. Cooperative learning embedded throughout the program focuses on individual students accountability, common goals, and recognition of group success.

The school will use a Response to Intervention (RTI) framework to ascertain early identification without over identification of student special education need, and to ensure that all teachers have complete ownership and a sense of accountability tied to data in order to provide the supports students need to meet our ambitious academic goals. This RTI process is tracked closely by the school's student achievement coordinator to ensure the provision of extensive support and consistent tracking of student progress. The school will hold school-wide RTI meetings every six to eight weeks, aligned with the assessment cycles, in which faculty and leaders meet to analyze school-wide, grade, class and individual student data, and then create targeted intervention groups designed to most effectively address student needs. Through the RTI process, teachers develop group and individual student intervention plans that, along with students' IEPs, ensure that students are on track to achieve at- or above grade level and to meet or exceed the school's rigorous accountability goals. If a student continues to struggle academically after targeted interventions through the RTI process, the school will initiate an initial referral process through the Committee on Special Education (CSE) to determine if special education services are required to provide the students with the supports needed.

The Success Charter Network literacy program uses an internal progress check quarterly for every child. Assessment data is used to design appropriate interventions, guide instruction, and move students into higher reading levels ensuring that no child is left behind. Professional Development addresses in-class differentiation, using writing samples, guided reading support, and individual student differentiation plans.

Success Charter Network (SCN) schools use an intensive intervention program to provide students with remedial instruction. After each quarterly literacy and math assessment, an action plan is created through the RTI process for any students identified as needing remedial instruction. Through the RTI plan, any below grade level students receive targeted in-class or tutoring interventions that are tracked throughout the RTI cycle.

SCN believes that, in addition to remedial instruction, a strong and positive school culture is needed to reach these at-risk students. Excellent behavior is explicitly taught modeled, expected, and rewarded. There is a school-wide emphasis on college graduation for all students and values and good character are a central part of daily instruction. Teachers and other school personnel act as positive role models for students. The school's core values spell the word "action," and students are encouraged to show and rewarded for demonstrating these values:

- Agency: Students should have a sense of ownership and personal responsibility. They have the power and the responsibility to control their behavior, their learning, and ultimately their future.
- Curiosity: Students should be curious and explore. They should always ask questions and want to investigate to learn more.
- Try and Try: Students should work hard – even if they do not succeed with their first attempt. They should learn from their mistakes and demonstrate persistence.
- Integrity: Students should always be honest. Personal integrity is of the utmost importance.
- Others: Students should have empathy and respect for others. They learn to put others before oneself.
- No Shortcuts: There are no shortcuts to success. Hard work is mandatory.

Through this combination of remedial instruction and character education, SCN schools have an effective program for identifying, assessing, and working with students at risk of academic failure. This program ensures that these students receive the support they need in order to succeed.

(d) Advanced Students

Discuss the proposed school's methods and strategies for identifying and serving students who are academically advanced and at risk of not being adequately challenged. In answering please describe:

- How the school will determine and identify which students are advanced. The applicant should define the term "advanced student" as s/he deems appropriate;

- The strategies and/or programs the school will use to accelerate learning for advanced students (both within general education classrooms and in other settings);

- The resources the school will devote to serving advanced students (e.g., enrichment activities, instructional materials, technology, staff and consultants, etc.);

- Any research or evidence that supports the appropriateness of this approach;

- The personnel that the school will devote to serving advanced students;

- The process that will be used to monitor the achievement and progress of advanced students; and

- The process that will be used to evaluate the efficacy of the program and ensure that the needs of these students are being met.

At Success Charter Network, our core curriculum is designed to address the needs of all of our students, including our academically advanced students. The school will hold school-wide RTI meetings every six to eight weeks, aligned with the assessment cycles, in which faculty and leaders meet to analyze school-wide, grade, class and individual student data, and then create targeted intervention groups designed to most effectively address student needs. As part of this planning, the school staff will identify above grade level students based on the formal and informal testing. Above grade level students' needs will be met through targeted groups at their level, including leveled guided reading groups, math and writing practice groups.

Beginning in first grade, students are grouped across classes and grades by reading ability level. Regrouping gives each teacher the opportunity to work intensively with students one reading level at a time. Cooperative learning embedded throughout the program focuses on individual students accountability, common goals, and recognition of group success. In addition, we provide advanced students opportunities to participate in a different grade for particular subjects such as math or reading in which they are significantly advanced.

We will use F&P and our other benchmark assessments outlined in Attachment 12(a) to track and gauge advanced student growth and to evaluate the efficacy of our advanced student program.

14. Instructional Leadership

Describe instructional leadership in your school over the first five years of operation. Your response should:

- Identify the instructional leadership positions in your school.
- Describe the specific roles and responsibilities of instructional leaders, particularly as they relate to curriculum, instruction, assessment, and teacher support, evaluation and professional development.
- Explain how expectations for teacher performance and student achievement will be established and then communicated to and instilled in staff.
- Describe the school's approach to teacher supervision and support. Responses might address needs assessment, professional development goals, curriculum development and instructional planning, classroom observation and clinical feedback, coaching and/or modeling.
- Describe the school's process and criteria for evaluating teacher performance.
- Explain how teachers will be held accountable for student achievement.
- Explain how instructional leaders will monitor the effectiveness of the academic program, including curriculum, instruction, assessment and professional development.

Leadership Team

As the person ultimately responsible for the success of the school and its students, the school principal must be strong, effective, and passionate. The principal or school leader is the instructional leader of the school and is responsible for student achievement, teacher effectiveness, and instructional rigor. While supported by the Success Charter Network, the principal is empowered with the authority to make important decisions for his or her school, including hiring and firing staff and selecting curricular materials, et cetera. As such, the principal is also ultimately held accountable for the student achievement and overall school performance.

As the school grows, so too does the leadership team. Within the first five years of operation, the school leadership team will likely include a School Leader or principal, one to two Leadership Residents, a Dean of Students, and a Business Manager.

Successful attributes of all members of the leadership team, include:

- Extraordinary Attention to Detail: Thinks critically about the details of a task at hand.
- Flexibility: Ability to adjust expected tasks and schedule to the updated priorities.
- Dedication to Mission: A genuine interest in finding ways to improve public education and support our schools.
- Collaboration: Working with teammates and responsive to feedback.

- Beyond Z Attitude: Willingness to go above and beyond the requirements of the job to be innovative and support the organization.

School Leader/Leadership Resident
School Leaders are responsible for collaborating with the Director of Literacy, Director of Instruction, and the Instructional Development team on all major curriculum decisions. They provide professional development, both formal presentations and informal observations and feedback, to their staff constantly, ensuring that all teachers have the tools they need to guide a rigorous, engaging, achievement driven classroom.

Attributes of a successful school leader (principal or school leader resident) include:

- Demonstrated commitment to student academic excellence
- High standards for themselves, their staff, and their students
- Great understanding of curriculum, lesson planning, and effective lesson delivery
- Comfort with integrating technology into instruction
- Ability to coach and move teacher practice
- A strong fit and dedication to the Success Charter Network's mission, goals, culture, and values
- Teaching and leadership experience, especially in an urban setting
- Commitment to data-driven instruction
- Experience hiring and managing employees
- High level of organization and resourcefulness
- Strong ability to multi-task, handle numerous tasks, and set priorities effectively
- Exemplary oral and written communication skills and sophisticated analytical analysis
- College degree, advanced degrees, and certifications
- Recommendations from prior employers, colleagues, and employees

The responsibilities of the principal will include, but not be limited to:

- Providing leadership and direction to all school staff members
- Hiring, evaluating, and terminating staff members as necessary
- Administering scheduling, enrollment, and curriculum
- Ensuring the proper use of student data to drive and improve instruction
- Facilitating parent involvement
- Making formal reports to the Board of Trustees, the Success Charter Network, and the charter entity
- Implementing the school policies and procedures as directed by the Board of Trustees
- Providing a safe learning environment
- Ensuring proper budgeting
- Assisting SCN in the training and mentoring of school leadership residents
- Providing guidance and support to teachers to improve instruction

The responsibilities of the school leadership resident will include, but not be limited to:

- Developing lesson plans and providing quality instruction to assigned classes in their area of expertise; This teaching will likely comprise approximately fifty percent of their time
- Mastering the SCN curriculum
- Mastering the proper usage of student data to drive and improve instruction
- Mastering the successful teacher observation and feedback process
- Mastering the SCN culture
- Participating in mentoring activities with SCN staff and SCN school principals

Dean of Students

As an ambassador and guardian of the school's culture, the Dean of Students will raise academic standards and student achievement. He or she will do this by helping both students and their families to memorize, internalize and practice the school's core values. The Dean of Students will also play an active role in monitoring students' behavior both inside and outside of the classroom. He or she will support the faculty by taking initiative to address behavior problems as they arise, ensuring that students miss as little time in the classroom as possible. He or she will also handle suspensions and detentions, coordinate Saturday Academy, and manage parent interactions.

The Dean of Students also will be an active member of the School Culture Committee and will play an integral role in planning, executing, and following up on scholar assemblies and family events.

Business Manager

The Business Manager is responsible for overseeing all non-instructional operations and communications of a Success Academy. The Business Manager will collaborate closely with school leadership and manage the back office team within his or her school. Responsibilities include:

- Manage a team of back office personnel
- Plan logistics for school-wide events including family academic nights, field trips, hearing and vision tests, school picture days, and flu shots
- Establish arrival, breakfast, lunch, recess, dismissal, and class transition procedures
- Monitor procurement and manage school budget
- Determine staff scheduling for back office
- Oversee parent communication, supplies procurement, and building maintenance
- Manage student data collection and information updates
- Develop a system for scheduling during the school day around available facilities and co-tenants
- Negotiate shared space with co-tenants
- Maintain school health and safety protocols, including school safety plan and fire drill routes

Performance Management

Teachers are evaluated on a continuous basis at SCN schools. School leaders are expected to observe and give feedback to teachers on regular basis – ensuring that all teachers receive the support that they need.

Teachers are evaluated against the SCN Teacher Rubric (see below), as well as progress towards our academic and school cultural goals. In the middle of the year, teachers complete a self-evaluation to inform their principal for a mid-year assessment and candid conversation about their progress and development. The process is repeated at the end of the year.

Teachers are held accountable for student achievement through ratings on our mid-year and year-end performance assessments, which include the goals described above. These assessments feed into rehire decisions, promotion decisions, and increases in compensation.

Leader Monitors Effectiveness

Evaluating the overall effectiveness of the curriculum is based on student achievement measured against end of-year-goals. When students consistently meet or exceed planned goals, the curriculum and its implementation is judged to have been effective. If performance is anything less than excellent, the SCN team and leaders go back to the drawing board to further analyze student and faculty performance and determine the specific structural flaws that led to the deficiency. Each year leaders also solicit input from teachers and use this, paired with achievement data, to examine and refine teaching, professional development, standards, skills, and sequencing.

At the end of each school year, teachers and leaders review and provide input on the curriculum scope and sequence as well as specific units, lessons, and materials. Regular evaluation also takes place during the school year. Collaboration is central to how SCN schools analyze data. Teachers and school leaders meet once a week to discuss how students performed on tests and assessments. Meetings generally center on the following questions:

- How did the school perform overall?
- How can instruction be individualized for students who did not perform well on this test?
- What skills were not mastered and need to be retaught?
- Which teachers were successful in teaching these skills and how did they teach these skills?
- Is instruction being driven in a way that challenges all students?
- How did the curriculum support student learning? How should it be revised to address areas or content identified as problematic?

Monitoring student progress will be an ongoing activity in all classrooms. A variety of tools will be used to monitor student progress, some formal and others more informal. Informal measures will include daily classroom observations by teachers, and classroom observations by school leaders. Data will be used to guide teachers as they make instructional decisions and school leaders as they plan for interventions for groups and individual children each day.

School leaders, the Director of Literacy, Director of Instruction, and the Instructional Development team use this data to adjust materials and lessons as needed. The frequent collaboration and input from teachers and leaders also influences the professional development topics, which are constantly being revised in order to meet teacher and student needs.

The success of the school will be continuously under examination. SCN's design element of student performance data allows the school leadership to regularly examine, assess, and improve the effectiveness of the curriculum and the instruction. The regular eight-week reading and monthly math assessments, as well as other nationally normed assessments will provide value-added data throughout the year and longitudinally over multiple years. The Fountas and Pinnel (F&P) assessment or similar assessment will be used quarterly for formal assessment of reading progress. The school will hold data reviews at least every quarter as well as student assessment meetings to assess student progress, effectiveness of curriculum materials and to make changes that ensure students reach New York State Standards, Core Curriculum State Standards and school end of year goals. Additionally, the New York State and City mandated assessments will provide student performance data that will be used to determine if students are mastering and going beyond the state standards and, hence, whether or not the school is a success.

The Success Charter Network (SCN) enforces specific protocols for how schools collect, distribute, and analyze data. These protocols work to help teachers and school leaders freely access information in real-time. In a fast-paced and constantly changing school environment, having data at one's fingertips empowers the staff to better decide how to expend time and resources so as to maximize student achievement. In order to maximize classroom time, SCN also constantly seeks out more efficient ways to raise student test scores by carefully examining high-stakes tests like the New York State English Language Arts Test. Dissecting these tests helps the Instructional Development team determine how best to quickly teach students how to ace these tests, giving the teachers more time to focus on teaching those skills and transcending the binary math-reading school day.

The process by which SCN schools collect data plays an important role in how this school will handle data. SCN will equip the school with a centralized database and each teacher with his or her own laptop. A data director at SCN will work with school leaders and design templates on the database through which teachers will individually enter student scores. Teachers will be expected to enter student test scores by the end of the school day. All data will feed to the central database so that a data manager at the school level can monitor. Once all information has been uploaded, the manager can then transmit it to SCN for the director who will oversee the process. This system gives certain advantages:

- It gives teachers closer familiarity with their students' performance since they are responsible for entering scores electronically.
- Decisions about instructional modifications can be made quickly so as to improve teaching and learning
- It allows administrators to easily monitor and troubleshoot.
- It gives SCN both an overall snapshot of school performance and the ability to hone in on specific problem areas.

This data distribution process will allow teachers and school leadership to make informed decisions quickly and collaboratively. The database, as currently utilized at the existing SCN schools, can produce automatic printouts of student reports, class reports, and student growth indicators over time. As data is collected, the instructional team gains statistical information on all students, teachers, and schools. In addition, for each test, the data collection lists skills and subskills tested on each question, which gives teachers and school leaders a line-by-line breakdown of student performance. Teachers administer monthly math assessments and a reading assessment once every eight weeks. These tests are identical for all classes grade-wide, allowing teachers to share ideas and compare results. The frequency of these tests gives volumes of data and an ongoing overview of how students are doing. In addition, all student data is accessible to all administrators and teachers. This free circulation of data reinforces the collaborative culture.

Not only does tracking internal assessments allow the school to gauge student growth, tracking data to itemize external high-stakes assessments gives a clearer sense of how the school stacks up against other schools. For this reason, school leaders look carefully at high-stakes tests. During baseline assessments, teachers learn in which areas their students already excel and in what areas they require targeted support. The curriculum is then reinforced and modified to fill these gaps. Looking at this data also helps teachers ramp up test-taking strategies that will help students score higher. Though some might criticize this approach as "teaching to the test," this approach actually achieves the exact opposite effect. By obtaining detailed and nuanced information about the test, teachers can more effectively use any time they use "teaching to the test," thus freeing up precious school hours for lessons their students find more engaging and rewarding. When students do not reach academic goals, teachers pre-teach, re-teach, teach in small groups, and can recommend students for individual tutoring.

Teacher Rubric

Studying for Lesson Delivery

LESSONS	Exceeds: Really understands the big ideas in the lessons and studies the lesson to ensure excellent execution. Meets: Understands the point of the lesson and has a pretty good idea how to execute the lesson. Approaching: Studies the lesson, but doesn't do all of the work to ensure excellent execution. Needs: Doesn't effectively study lessons and doesn't think through lesson execution.
MATERIALS	Exceeds: Effectively prepares for the lesson and efficiently uses materials to engage scholars. Meets: Thinks through material needs and has materials ready for lessons. Approaching: Thinks through and uses materials, but they aren't as effective as they can be and they don't further the lesson. Needs Doesn't think through material needs and isn't prepared to effectively deliver the lesson.
ASSESSMENTS	Exceeds: Is constantly assessing 'Who's Got It' and using that information to drive future lessons. Meets: Uses on-the-stop assessments in most lessons to measure 'Who's Got It' and uses the data to drive future lessons. Approaching: Occasionally uses assessments to measure 'Who's Got It'. Needs: Doesn't utilize assessments to monitor 'Who's Got It'.

Classroom Management

EXPECTATIONS	Exceeds: Is direct, specific, consistent, and tenacious in communicating and enforcing very high expectations. Meets: Clearly communicates and consistently enforces high standards for student behavior Approaching: Announces and posts classroom rules and punishments. Needs: Comes up with ad hoc rules and punishments as events unfold during the year.
ROUTINES	Exceeds: Successfully inculcates class routines so that students maintain them throughout the year. Meets: Teaches routines and has students maintain them all year. Approaching: Tries to train students in class routines but many of the routines are not maintained. Needs: Does not teach routines and is constantly nagging, threatening, and punishing students.
REPERTOIRE	Exceeds: Has a highly effective discipline repertoire and can capture and hold students' attention any time. Meets: Has a repertoire of discipline "moves" and can capture and maintain students' attention. Approaching: Has a limited disciplinary repertoire and students are frequently not paying attention. Needs: Has few discipline "moves" and constantly struggles to get students' attention.

Delivery of Instruction

RIGOROUS EXPECTATIONS	Exceeds: Exudes high expectations and determination and convinces all students that they will master the material. Meets: Conveys to students: This is important, you can do it, and I'm not going to give up on you. Approaching: Tells students that the subject matter is important and they need to work hard. Needs: Gives up on some students as hopeless.
GOALS	Exceeds: Shows students exactly what's expected by posting essential questions, goals, rubrics, and exemplars. Meets: Gives students a clear sense of purpose by posting the unit's essential questions and the lesson's goals. Approaching: Tells students the main learning objectives of each lesson. Needs: Begins lessons without giving students a sense of where instruction is headed.
CLARITY	Exceeds: Always presents material clearly and explicitly, with well-chosen examples and vivid and appropriate language. Meets: Uses clear explanations, appropriate language, and good examples to present material. Approaching: Sometimes uses language and explanations that are fuzzy, confusing, or inappropriate. Needs: Often presents material in a confusing way, using language that is inappropriate.
PACING	Exceeds: Gets all students highly involved in focused work in which they are active learners and problem-solvers. Meets: Has students actively think about, discuss, and use the ideas and skills being taught. Approaching: Attempts to get students actively involved but some students are disengaged. Needs: Mostly lectures to passive students or has them plod through textbooks and worksheets.

PROFESSIONALISM

ENVIRONMENT	Exceeds: Artfully uses room arrangement, materials, and displays to maximize student learning of all material. Meets: Organizes classroom furniture, materials, and displays to support unit and lesson goals. Approaching: Organizes furniture and materials to support the lesson, with only a few decorative displays. Needs: Has a conventional furniture arrangement, hard-to-access materials, and few wall displays.

DEADLINES	Exceeds: Carries out assignments conscientiously and punctually, keeps meticulous attendance, PowerSchool logs, homework, and uniform infractions, and never misses a deadline. Meets: Is punctual and reliable with paperwork, duties, and assignments; keeps accurate records. Approaching: Occasionally skips assignments, is late, makes errors, and misses paperwork deadlines. Needs: Frequently skips assignments, is late, makes errors, and misses paperwork deadlines.
FULFILLS DUTIES	Exceeds: Presents as a consummate professional and always observes appropriate boundaries. Meets: Demonstrates professional demeanor and maintains appropriate boundaries. Approaching: Occasionally acts and/or dresses in an unprofessional manner and violates boundaries. Needs: Frequently acts and/or dresses in an unprofessional manner and violates boundaries.
STRIVES FOR EXCELLENCE	Exceeds: Frequently contributes valuable ideas and expertise that further the school's mission. Meets: Is a positive team player and contributes ideas, expertise, and time to the overall mission of the school. Approaching: Occasionally suggests an idea aimed at improving the school. Needs: Rarely if ever contributes ideas that might help improve the school.
REAL TIME IMPROVEMENT	Exceeds: Actively seeks out feedback and suggestions and uses them to improve performance. Meets: Listens thoughtfully to other viewpoints and responds constructively to suggestions and criticism. Approaching: Is somewhat defensive but does listen to feedback and suggestions. Needs: Is very defensive about criticism and resistant to changing classroom practice.
LEARNER	Exceeds: Devours best practices from fellow professionals, workshops, reading, study groups, the Internet, and other sources. Meets: Seeks out effective teaching ideas from supervisors, colleagues, workshops, reading, and the Internet. Approaching: Keeps an eye out for new ideas for improving teaching and learning. Needs: Is not open to ideas for improving teaching and learning.
TEAMWORK	Exceeds: Is an active member on the school and network team and works with team to push academic rigor. Meets: Is an active member on the school based team and pushes the team to excellence. Approaching: When asked, contributes to the team. Needs: Doesn't engage with the team.

15. Professional Development

Describe how the school's professional development program will assist teachers in meeting students' academic needs and school goals by addressing identified shortcomings in student learning and teacher pedagogical skill and content knowledge. Your response should:

- Describe who will be responsible for providing professional development;
- Explain how the needs of individual teachers will be identified and the staff responsible for identifying those needs;
- Describe how and when professional development will be delivered;
- Describe the resources, including staff and time, that will be allocated for professional development;
- Explain how the professional development program will meet the needs of all teachers, including novice teachers, teachers new to the school, veteran teachers, and teachers of all subjects;
- Explain the process for evaluating the efficacy of the professional development program.

Professional Development
The Success Charter Network (SCN) views its teachers as Olympic athletes who must constantly train and improve their skills. Professional development is a regular part of our teacher's and leader's professional responsibilities as it develops skills, provides content area knowledge, and improves pedagogical techniques so that the teachers are prepared to "win the race" that is educating children.

We believe that excellence is about the adults. The main obstacle to implementing literacy and math at a high level is the adults, not the children. Excellence is about leaders first and foremost, next teachers, and finally students. The grownups have the responsibility and the authority to achieve excellence. It is this belief in the power of adults that drives SCN to provide continual, quality Professional Development for all members of the school team.

To ensure that kids meet our incredibly high expectations we must make improvements to our teaching, coaching, and leading in real time.

SCN teachers receive up to 400 hours of professional development each year consisting of on average, 8 full days of professional development, 38 Wednesday afternoon sessions, and four weeks in the summer before school starts.

Faculty Orientation
Before the first day of school, all SCN staff members go through an extensive orientation period with specialized training sessions targeted to the needs of the SCN teacher. To ensure all teachers are set up for success, SCN provides an additional week of training for all new teachers. During this weeklong period, teachers undergo training focused on:

- Classroom management
- Professionalism
- School Culture and Values
- Foundations of the SCN Instructional Model

This new teacher training is followed by a three-week orientation period where teachers delve deeper into SCN academics, policies and culture. Teachers undergo training in specialized tracks tailored to their needs, which include, but are not limited to:

- Instructional Components of the SCN THINK Literacy, SFA and Math Programs
- Parent Communication and Involvement
- Building School Culture
- Technology
- SCN Policies and Procedures

Weekly PD and Full PD Days

During the school year, teachers and school leaders have professional development activities on Wednesdays from about 2:30 until 5:00. Additionally there are eight Professional Development days each year, which allow teachers to spend a full day in school, engaged in Professional Development activities and workshops.

SCN professional development session topics and trainings are determined by school leaders, the Director of Literacy, and the Instructional Development staff. Each session is designed to address student achievement and teacher pedagogical needs. Sessions are led by school leaders who receive targeted training of their own from the Instructional Development and Literacy teams at summer training, Leader Summit, and throughout the year during regular Leader Study Groups led by the Director of Literacy.

While homeroom teachers meet for training focused on Curriculum Components, Specials and Science teachers attend team meetings and trainings led by appointed Specials Team Leaders and plan for upcoming lessons and school events.

To ensure that the needs of novice, returning and veteran teachers are met, professional development sessions are often differentiated into tracks for teachers based on their levels of proficiency. Teachers are either assigned to sessions based on school leader discretion or elect to participate in sessions tailored to their particular needs.

Leader Observations and Planning Meetings

Teachers are observed regularly by their school leaders and receive constructive feedback aimed at helping them push their practice. Less experienced teachers are often observed more frequently and given more opportunities to seek out support from their leaders to ensure they are empowered to drive student achievement. There are never any limits imposed on the abilities of school leadership to observe the classes in their school.

Teachers attend weekly planning meetings with their grade teams and leaders to analyze student data and plan instruction using this analysis.

Instructional Coaches, Conferences, and School Visits

In addition to professional development led by the Literacy and Instruction Team and school leaders, SCN teachers receive professional development from external individuals and organizations on a regular basis. Teachers and leaders work with a team of skilled instructional consultants and coaches focused on topics ranging from Math to Block Play to Classroom Management. Instructional consultants spend several consecutive days with SCN leaders and teachers coaching, observing, modeling and leading planning meetings and training sessions.

Leaders and teachers also have the opportunity to attend external conferences intended to meet their individual pedagogical needs and target their areas of expertise. Teachers and leaders attend conferences organized by a variety of organizations such as Uncommon Schools, Math in the City and National Art Educators Association.

SCN teachers also take advantage of the opportunity to learn best practices from other teachers, both within and outside the Network. Inter-visitations between schools within the Success Charter Network are arranged annually and teachers also visit great schools outside of the Network to observe high caliber instruction and bring new pedagogical ideas and strategies back to their classrooms.

Assessment of PD Effectiveness and Teacher Needs

School leaders, the Director of Literacy and the Instructional Development team are consistently assessing the effectiveness of professional development and adjusting future plans accordingly. Professional development effectiveness is assessed and analyzed in the following ways:

- Weekly surveys administered to teachers after each Wednesday professional development session and analyzed by Instructional Development team
- Literacy Observations by the Director of Literacy to assess teacher proficiency with each THINK Literacy Component
- Classroom Management Observations by the Director of Instruction to assess teacher proficiency with each Classroom Management tactic
- Math observations are done by a math consultant to assess effectiveness in math implementation.
- Student Data Analysis from regular Math, Reading and Writing assessments
- The Instructional Development and Literacy teams consistently use evaluations of PD effectiveness and student achievement to inform their planning and caucus with school leaders about teacher needs weekly at network-wide school leader meetings
- Informal and formal conversations with grade team leaders

16. School Culture and Discipline

Explain how you will establish and maintain a school culture that supports learning and achievement. Your response should address:

- How the school will maintain a safe and orderly environment;
- The school's approach to classroom management;
- The school's approach to discipline (the actual discipline policy should be submitted separately as Attachment 37); and
- The specific roles of teachers and administrators in relation to school culture and discipline.

The applicants and Success Charter Network believe a strong school culture is essential for academic success. SCN believes that without a safe, orderly, and respectful environment, children cannot learn. As such, the school has very high expectations for student behavior and a strict discipline policy to make sure students act appropriately at all times and are always within a safe, structured environment. SCN schools take a preventive and pro-active approach to discipline to ensure that students behave properly in the first place and that there are no obstacles to learning.

The school uses a warm-strict approach to discipline and believes that good behavior, like academics, must be taught. It also believes that the small stuff matters and, therefore, even minor infractions will not be tolerated. The goal is for students to become self-disciplined and self-directed individuals who respect others, the community around them, and themselves.

All students, teachers, and parents will be made aware of the school's high expectations and the school, in turn, expects parents, students, and teachers to strictly adhere to the policies. During the summer faculty training session, teachers are provided with extensive professional training on effective discipline, good behaviors, and productive routines. During student orientation, students are taught effective discipline and good behaviors through clear, consistent, and well-established classroom routines. Teachers and staff continuously model appropriate behaviors for students and use preventive and positive strategies including a rewards system whereby students are honored at monthly ceremonies for perfect attendance, homework completion, and expression of the school's ACTION values:

- Agency: Students should have a sense of ownership and personal responsibility. They have the power and the responsibility to control their behavior, their learning, and ultimately their future.
- Curiosity: Students should be curious and explore. They should always ask questions and want to investigate to learn more.
- Try and Try: Students should work hard – even if they do not succeed with their first attempt. They should learn from their mistakes and demonstrate persistence.
- Integrity: Students should always be honest. Personal integrity is of the utmost importance.

- Others: Students should have empathy and respect for others. They learn to put others before oneself.
- No Shortcuts: There are no shortcuts to success. Hard work is mandatory.

To ensure safety and success, the Success Code of Conduct is enforced at all times. Students adhere to the Code of Conduct, which includes the Uniform and Attendance Policies, when at school, on school grounds, participating in a school-sponsored activity, walking to or from school or a school-sponsored event, walking to or from, waiting for, or riding on public transportation to and from school or a school-sponsored activity. Serious misconduct outside of the school is considered a school disciplinary offense when evidence exists that the student's continued presence at the school would have a significant detrimental effect on the school.

If a student violates the Code of Conduct, action will be taken. When a student doesn't adhere to the Code of Conduct or does not meet the school's standards for acceptable behavior despite the positive and preventive strategies, the school will respond and intervene with specific consequences so that it can maintain a safe and productive learning environment for all students.

In all cases of disciplinary consequences minimum due process under federal case law will be afforded to all students. Students will be told of the charges against them and asked for their side of the story. The principal or other school official shall consider this explanation prior to taking the disciplinary action. Parents should be notified before or within a reasonable amount of time after the imposition of such discipline.

Please refer to Attachment 37 for a complete copy of the school's discipline policy.

17. Accountability Plan

(a) Goals and Measures

Using the Institute template submit a draft Accountability Plan for the proposed school that includes at a minimum the Institute's required goals and measures. If the school will open with early elementary or high school grades, provide benchmark indicators that can be used to measure progress towards the required goals. The Accountability Plan may also contain any optional goals and measures you choose to include. Guidelines for Creating a SUNY Accountability Plan and a plan template can be found on the Institute's website at: http://newyorkcharters.org/schoolsAccountability.htm

Success Charter Network schools provide an educational program and a learning environment that allow each student, regardless of background knowledge or prior educational opportunity, to meet or exceed New York State performance goals on each state assessment administered within the school. Additionally, the following student achievement goals have been set:

ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS

Goal: Students will demonstrate proficiency in reading, writing, and comprehending the English language.

Absolute Measures

- Each year, 75 percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year will perform at or above Level 3 on the New York State ELA exam.

- Each year, the school's aggregate Performance Index (PI) on the State ELA exam will meet that year's Annual Measurable Objective (AMO) set forth in the state's NCLB accountability system.

Comparative Measures

- Each year, the percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year and performing at or above Level 3 on the State ELA exam will be greater than that of students in the same tested grades in the local school district.

- Each year, the school will exceed its predicted level of performance on the State ELA exam by at least a small Effect Size (performing higher than expected to a small degree) according to a regression analysis controlling for students eligible for free lunch among all public schools in New York State.

Growth Measures

- Each year, all grade-level cohorts of students will reduce by one-half the gap between the percent at or above Level 3 on the previous year's State ELA exam and 75 percent at or above Level 3 on the current year's State ELA exam. If a grade-level cohort exceeds 75 percent at or above Level 3 in the previous year, the cohort is expected to show a positive gain in the current year.

- Each student, beginning in kindergarten will take the Fountas & Pinnell Benchmark Assessment System (F&P) or similar reading assessments, and at least 75% of students will increase in reading performance by a minimum of one grade level equivalent each year.

MATHEMATICS

Goal: Students will show competency in their understanding and application of mathematical computation and problem solving.

Absolute Measures

- Each year, 75 percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year will perform at or above Level 3 on the New York State mathematics exam.

- Each year, the school's aggregate Performance Index (PI) on the State mathematics exam will meet that year's Annual Measurable Objective (AMO) set forth in the state's NCLB accountability system.

Comparative Measures

- Each year, the percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year and performing at or above Level 3 on the State mathematics exam will be greater than that of students in the same tested grades in the local school district.

- Each year, the school will exceed its predicted level of performance on the State mathematics exam by at least a small Effect Size (performing higher than expected to a small degree) according to a regression analysis controlling for students eligible for free lunch among all public schools in New York State.

Growth Measures

- Each year, all grade-level cohorts of students will reduce by one-half the gap between the percent at or above Level 3 on the previous year's State mathematics

exam and 75 percent at or above Level 3 on the current year's State mathematics exam. If a grade-level cohort exceeds 75 percent at or above Level 3 in the previous year, the cohort is expected to show a positive gain in the current year.

- Each student will take a nationally normed assessment (such as the Terra Nova) each year and, and at least 75% of students will increase by a minimum of one grade level equivalent each year.

SCIENCE

Goal: Students will understand and apply scientific principles at a proficient level.

Absolute Measures

- Each year, 75 percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year will perform at or above Level 3 on the New York State science exam.

Comparative Measures

- Each year, the percent of all tested students who are enrolled in at least their second year and performing at or above Level 3 on a State science exam will be greater than that of students in the same tested grades in the local school district.

NCLB

Goal: The school will make Adequate Yearly Progress.

Absolute Measure

- Under the state's NCLB accountability system, the school's Accountability Status will be "Good Standing" each year.

17. Accountability Plan

(b) Graduation Requirements

If the proposed school will serve students in the 12th grade within the charter term, describe your school's specific requirements for graduation beyond the basic Regents requirements including whether or not the proposed school would offer or require an advanced Regents diploma.

This request does not apply as the proposed school will not serve 12th grade during the initial charter term.

18. Progress Monitoring

(a) Accountability Plan Goals

Explain how the school will monitor its progress towards meeting its Accountability Plan goals and how that information will be shared with and used by stakeholders, including parents, teachers, board members and school leaders.

The proposed school endeavors to educate children and provide them with the knowledge, skills, and education needed to succeed in higher education and life beyond school. The school will carefully monitor the longitudinal progress of each of its students from their entry into the school to the time they graduate, ensuring that they either remain on grade level or are remediated and continue to gain with their peers.

As discussed in detail in Attachment 12(a), the school will use a variety of assessments beyond those required by the state. Please also refer to Attachment 12(a) for a detailed discussion of how the school will communicate results with parents, teachers, board members and school leaders.

Before the beginning of each school year, the school leadership team, in collaboration with the SCN instructional development and data & accountability departments, agrees upon a set of ambitious year-end goals. Working backwards from these goals, the team will then determine what benchmarks our scholars should be meeting at each test administration during the school year. For example, by the end of the school year every first grade scholar is expected to read at level J according to the Fountas & Pinnell standardized assessment. This goal is actually more ambitious than the end-of-year benchmark provided by the creators of the assessment itself (they suggest a first grade goal between G-I). From the J goal, the team will decide at what level scholars should be reading in September, February and March so that they are on-track to achieve level J by June. Leaders communicate these benchmarks to teachers, parents and scholars.

In order to ensure regularity in test administration and consistency in our results, SCN provides identical training to all leaders and teachers affiliated with the Success Charter Network. All teachers learn using the same materials, watching the same presentations, etc. In addition, school-level staff receives the same training, allowing them to properly coach teachers and quality-control tests to ensure regularity and accuracy. All of these checks ensure that the school's effectiveness is evaluated at a high level, using the same standards across the Success Charter Network.

School-based staff collects results and transfers data to the network. The SCN data and accountability (D&A) team then processes all test scores. D&A creates reports that show performance levels, growth by scholar, growth by teacher, distribution of scores and other indicators. These reports are distributed within twenty-four hours so educators can improve instruction in real-time. Results are also uploaded into a web-based test score database that allows all stakeholders to quickly access historical data and to query for results in a variety of ways.

At every SCN school, all educators are aware of their scholars' performance and what they can do to improve outcomes. The faculty keeps parents informed of their scholars' progress in a number of ways. First, parent-teacher communication is constant. The school will encourage parents to call teachers on their SCN-issued cell phones. Parents and scholars will be given their teachers' cell phone numbers as well as their leaders'. Secondly, the school will send home letters after major assessments letting parents know how their scholars performed. Third, the school will send home progress reports three times annually that summarize their scholars' performance.

Board members analyze current student achievement data at each of their regular meetings, including school-wide trends, network-wide trends, strengths and growth areas. Board members also learn what leaders and teachers are doing to improve outcomes.

All assessments are carefully aligned to student achievement goals, and the state standards serve as the foundation of school-created assessments. Progress toward specific achievement goals is tracked through each assessment, and student performance on assessments is considered when reevaluating instruction and curriculum.

Finally, in second grade and beyond, the school will administer practice state tests from previous years to evaluate their progress against standardized benchmarks. For example, before third graders at HSA1 took the 2009 New York State math test in March, they took practice state tests from 2006-2008 to gauge how well students were mastering third grade math concepts.

By using this wide variety of assessments and meticulously tracking scholars over the course of the year and longitudinally, the school will have a clear understanding of the success of each student, each class, each teacher, and each cohort. This, combined with SCN schools' unique ability to aggregate and analyze information, will allow the school to ensure that it is exceeding its accountability plan targets and goals.

(b) Mission Accomplishment

Explain the process and criteria that will be used to monitor and evaluate the extent to which the school is achieving its mission throughout the charter term.

Our mission focuses on giving our scholars a competitive advantage that will allow them to excel in learning and in their professional careers. At SCN, we understand that our scholars get this advantage not simply by mastering New York state standards. Though these standards provide our educators with valuable guidelines, we consider them a good starting pointing. To succeed, our scholars will need to rise to higher expectations.

Rather than working backward from a set of standards, leaders start with the bigger questions, "What do we want our scholars to be able to do?" and "What knowledge will get them ahead in life?" Armed with these questions, SCN staff and school leaders look to other schools that have both raised the bar and their students' performance to match. For example, the SCN writing curriculum and assessment is modeled on what SCN representatives observed at Brearley, an elite private school located in Upper-East Side Manhattan. Brearley was singled out after learning about its world-class writing program. Since the Success Academy scholars will one day compete with Brearley's graduates, SCN scholars should write as well as those students.

Similarly, in math, we want our scholars to transcend the rote memorization and blind application of procedures that plague many math programs in the United States. We know that to be competitive in the global market, our scholars must have sound conceptual knowledge of math and be able to apply their skills fluently. Towards this end, the SCN math program features a combination of TERC math and Cognitively Guided Instruction (CGI). SCN adopted TERC after learning that most high-performing charter schools also use this program. The school will use CGI because it gives scholars a chance to discover math concepts through play and exploration. For example, scholars learn skip counting independently by counting large groups of objects on a daily basis and, in the process, learning to count more efficiently.

Finally, with respect to reading, we want scholars not only able to fluently sound out words but to think critically and to engage in meaningful discussions about what they read. To that end, we model our literacy instruction after the readers' workshop. Scholars read a wide variety of books and confer with their teacher and their peers about the texts. The applicants believe exposing scholars to different content is important. However, equally important is the volume that they are reading – we train our scholars to read constantly and voraciously.

Of course adopting high quality curricula is only part of the equation that gets our scholars to succeed in school and in life. High-level instruction must translate into results. We hold our scholars and ourselves to a very high bar with the goals we set and the assessments we give. As alluded to earlier, we evaluate our scholars' writing based on rubrics inspired by examples we saw at Brearley and other exceptional writing programs. In math, we design interim assessments with an eye toward rigor. Our goal is to stretch scholars' thinking. We are never satisfied with a test that almost all our scholars ace – that tells us the test is too easy! In reading, we benchmark scholars more strenuously than grade-level expectations. For example, by the end of the school year we expect every first grade scholar to be reading at a level J according to the Fountas & Pinnell Benchmark Assessment. This goal is actually above the end-of-year benchmark provided by the creators of the assessment; they suggest a first grade goal between G-I.

As detailed in Attachment 18(a), we monitor scholars' progress towards these goals through a well-designed and well-paced battery of assessments, the results of which we analyze meticulously. Our instructional teams use these data and their experiences in the classroom to change instruction in real-time so that we are always working towards fulfilling our mission.

19. Organizational Chart

Provide an organizational chart for the school and a narrative description of the chart.

- The chart should clearly indicate the reporting structure of school leader(s) to the board of trustees and staff to the school leader(s). If the charter school intends to contract or partner with an entity for management or educational services, the organizational chart should also reflect that relationship.

- The narrative should explain the lines of reporting and accountability, your rationale for choosing this structure, and the roles of any management or partner organizations.

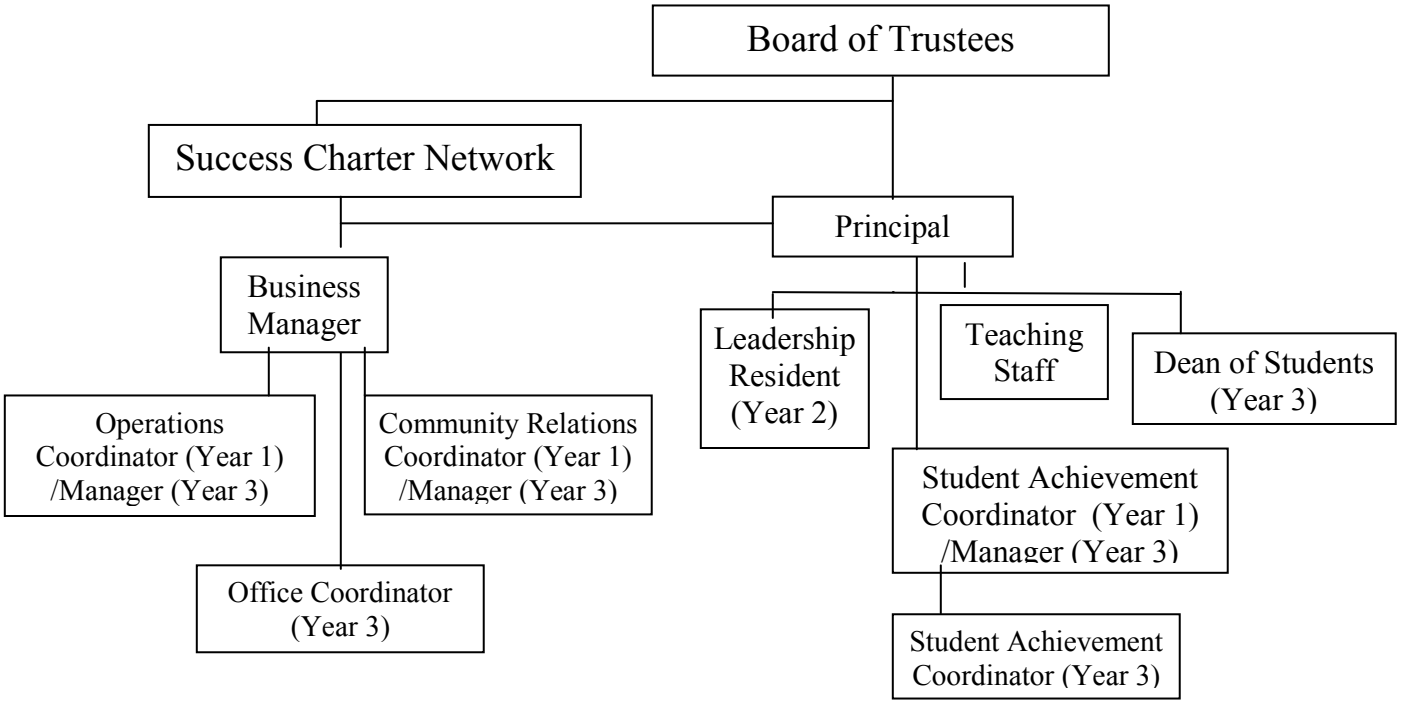
School Organizational Chart



The school is governed by the Board of Trustees. The principal is selected by the Success Charter Network (SCN) and presented to the Board of Trustees. The principal reports directly to the Success Charter Network, which is responsible for coaching and supervising the principal, and to the Board of Trustees, which is responsible for evaluating the principal's performance each year. The principal is an at-will employee whose yearly renewal status is contingent upon the approval of SCN and the Board of Trustees.

The principal is the school leader responsible for implementing the mission and policies set by the Board of Trustees. He or she supervises a staff that includes a Dean of Students beginning (beginning in Year 3) who is responsible for student discipline and culture, School Leadership Resident(s) and the teaching staff. The School Leadership Resident assists in the supervision of the teaching staff, but the principal will be the final authority. Additionally, there is an operations team at the school that, in its first year, consists of a business manager, operations coordinator, community relations coordinator, and student achievement coordinator. These four individuals are responsible for all non-instructional operations and administration at the school. They all report to the principal but the business manager is largely managed by SCN. In subsequent years, this operational team will expand by two additional coordinators to share in its duties.

The Success Charter Network works actively and closely with the principal to ensure that the SCN curriculum is implemented effectively and that the teaching staff is given effective professional development, coaching, and feedback. SCN has an extremely hands-on approach and does not manage its schools from a distance. Members of the SCN staff are a regular presence at the school coaching, observing, and providing feedback. The Chief Executive Officer, Chief Operating Officer, Director of Instruction, and Director of Literacy spend a significant portion of their time in the schools and participate in all correspondence going to and from school leaders and teachers related to instruction. This allows the team to identify best practices that should be implemented at multiple schools as well as address potential problems before they become serious. Similarly, the Chief Operating Officer and Director of Operations participate in all email discussions related to school operations to ensure that innovative ideas are implemented and replicated and potential problems are caught immediately.

SCN also provides opportunities for the principal to visit and learn from high-performing schools both within and without its network of schools. It provides the principal with professional development opportunities designed to enhance his leadership, management, and pedagogical skills. SCN also regularly examines the school's performance data and holds the principal directly accountable for the success of the school. SCN expects all of its schools and employees to be in a state of constant improvement working towards competitive greatness, and its interactions with and accountability standards for the school principal will reflect that expectation. SCN uses these extensive interactions and examinations of school performance data to make an informed and accurate report to the Board regarding the principal's performance at the school.

The Success Charter Network has entered into a contract with the Board of Trustees to provide prescribed services to the school. SCN reports directly to the Board and regularly provides the Board with updates and data related to the performance of its contracted services. Examples of human resources information SCN provides to the Board include number of applicants applied, interviewed, and recommended for hire, student recruitment goals and figures, school budgeting forecasting, and special education compliance reports.

20. Governance

(a) School Board Roles and Responsibilities

Describe the roles and responsibilities of your school's board of trustees. Your response should at least explain the role of the board in:

- Selecting school leader(s) (and partner or management organizations, if any);
- Monitoring school performance;
- Evaluating school leaders (and partner or management organizations, if any); and
- Holding school leaders (and partner or management organizations, if any) accountable for achievement of the school's mission and goals.

The school will be governed by a Board of Trustees consisting of at least five members. These members will be diverse and have the professional skills necessary for the successful operation of the school. They will provide academic and fiscal guidance and oversight to the school. Specifically their duties will include:

- Evaluate and monitor the school's academic performance
- Provide financial guidance and develop the school's budget in conjunction with the principal and the Success Charter Network
- Provide legal and ethical oversight to school operations
- Evaluate the principal and the Success Charter Network annually

The Board of Trustees will have ultimate authority on school issues including, but not limited to, fiscal and academic decisions. The Board will follow all applicable laws governing frequency of meetings. During these meetings, the Board will review student performance data including assessment results, homework completion rates, and student attendance rates, as well as financial documents including budget projections and actual expense reports. The examination of these documents will allow the Board to make informed decisions regarding the academic and fiscal operations of the school.

Success Charter Network (SCN) will select the principal and introduce the principal to the Board of Trustees. The Board will then delegate authority for the day-to-day operations of the school to the principal and to SCN outlined in Attachment 6. This principal will oversee all operations of the school and report directly to SCN and the Board. The Board believes that delegating this authority to the principal is the best way to hold him or her accountable for school performance.

The principal will attend regularly scheduled Board meetings throughout the year to discuss school performance and the quality of teaching and learning at his or her school. Board members will also be given the student assessment data, student attendance and discipline data, budget data, and parent satisfaction data in real time. This direct reporting by the principal to the Board and timely presentation of data and reports related to school performance will allow the Board to evaluate and hold accountable the principal for the school's performance.

A representative from SCN will also be present at Board meetings in order to present information related to the activities it is contracted to carry out for the school as outlined in Attachment 19. Examples of information that SCN will present to the Board include, but are not limited to, numbers of applicants applied, interviewed, and recommended for hire, student recruitment goals and figures, school budget forecasting, and special education compliance reports. The presentation of information directly related to SCN's contracted services will allow the Board to hold SCN accountable and to evaluate its performance.

The Board will also have separate annual meetings with teachers, school leaders, and school operations staff. These meetings will take place without the presence of an SCN representative and will provide an opportunity for the Board to hear directly from the school employees regarding the state of the school, and it will allow the school employees an opportunity to express to the Board their thoughts and concerns about the school.

The board of the school evaluates the management organization in a similar fashion to how it evaluates the progress of the school itself. At regular meetings, the board reviews student achievement and culture data relative to SCN and other schools. The board also discusses the performance of the Success Charter Network with the school leader at regular meetings and with the school faculty at annual teacher meetings. It also reviews financial data at each meeting including the provision of services by the management organization compared to the cost of the services provided. The school leader and board also work with the management organization frequently to informally evaluate the day-to-day operations.

20. Governance

(b) School Board Design

Describe and provide rationale for the proposed design of the school's board of trustees. Your response should address:

- Number of trustees;
- Qualifications to be a trustee;
- Trustee recruitment and selection process and criteria;
- New trustee orientation process;
- Officer positions;
- Standing committees (if any);
- Ex-officio members (voting and non-voting);
- Frequency of board and committee meetings;
- Delegation of authority;
- Procedures for publicizing and conducting school board meetings and taking and maintaining board and committee meeting minutes;
- Procedures for handling complaints, including from staff and parents;
- Board training and development.

Note that many of these elements should also be enshrined in the school's proposed by-laws submitted as Request No. 34.

The school will be governed by a Board of Trustees consisting of at least five members. These members will be diverse and possess the professional skills necessary for the successful operation of the school. They will provide academic and fiscal guidance and oversight to the school. Specifically their duties will include:

- Evaluate and monitor the school's academic performance
- Provide financial guidance and develop the school's budget in conjunction with the principal and the Success Charter Network
- Provide legal and ethical oversight to school operations
- Evaluate the principal and the Success Charter Network annually

In order to satisfactorily carry out the above duties, members of the Board of Trustees should have the following qualifications:

- Belief in and support of the mission and design of the school
- An expectation that all children can and will achieve academic excellence
- Willingness to attend board meetings and volunteer for necessary board functions

- Experience and expertise in one of the following industries: education, business, accounting, law, government, or community development
- The capacity to examine school performance data and make informed decisions in the best interest of students' education
- The capacity to examine financial documents and make informed decisions in the best interest of the school's financial integrity
- Be at least 18 years of age

One ex-officio seat on the Board shall be reserved for a parent of a child matriculating at the school. This will be a non-voting seat and will be filled following the start of the first school year.

Though the Board of Trustees will delegate the management of certain activities to the Success Charter Network, a not-for-profit management organization, the Board of Trustees will have ultimate authority on school issues including, but not limited to, fiscal and academic decisions. The Board will follow all applicable laws governing frequency of meetings. During these meetings, the Board will review student performance data including assessment results, homework completion rates, and student attendance rates, as well as financial documents including budget projections and actual expense reports. The examination of these documents will allow the Board to make informed decisions regarding the academic and fiscal operations of the school.

Success Charter Network (SCN) will select the principal candidate and introduce the principal to the Board. The Board will then delegate authority for the day-to-day operations of the school to the principal and to SCN the responsibilities outlined in Attachment 6. This principal will oversee all operations of the school and report directly to the Board. The Board believes that delegating this authority to the principal is the best way to hold him or her accountable for school performance.

The principal will attend regularly scheduled Board meetings throughout the year to discuss school performance and the quality of teaching and learning at his or her school. Board members will also be given the student assessment data, student attendance and discipline data, budget data, and parent satisfaction data in real time. This direct reporting by the principal to the Board and timely presentation of data and reports related to school performance will allow the Board to evaluate and hold the principal accountable for the performance of the school.

A representative from SCN will also be present at Board meetings in order to present information related to the activities it is contracted to carry out for the school as outlined in Attachment 6. Examples of information that SCN will present to the Board include, but are not limited to, numbers of applicants applied, interviewed, and recommended for hire; student recruitment goals and figures; school budget forecasting; and special education compliance reports. The presentation of information directly related to SCN’s contracted services will allow the Board to hold SCN accountable and to evaluate its performance.

The board of the school evaluates the management organization in a similar fashion to how it evaluates the progress of the school itself. At regular meetings, the board reviews student achievement and culture data relative to SCN and other schools. The board also discusses the performance of the Success Charter Network with the school leader at regular meetings and with the school faculty at annual teacher meetings. It also reviews financial data at each meeting including the provision of services by the management organization compared to the cost of the services provided. The school leader and board also work with the management organization frequently to informally evaluate the day-to-day operations.

The Board of Trustees will follow the New York State Open Meetings Law, which allows members of the public to attend charter school board meetings and restricts what actions a charter school may take without a meeting or in private. The Board will hold regular meetings as required by law; at least three of these meetings, annually, will be held at the school site. The Board of Trustees will generally give public notice of the date, time, and location of any board or board committee meeting scheduled at least a week in advance and no less than 72 hours before the meeting. The public notice will be accomplished by posting notice of the meeting in the school and providing at least one media notice or advisory, including notice to the New York Times or other area publication. For those circumstances which require the school's board or a board committee to meet with less than one week's notice, the board will notify both the public and the news media to the extent practicable at a reasonable time prior to the meeting.

The Board may create standing or ad-hoc committees for any purpose. The Board will elect committee members. A Board Committee will consist of not fewer than three Trustees, who shall serve at the pleasure of the Board, except that any executive committee of the Board shall comprise not fewer than five trustees. The entire Board may vote, at any time, to disband the Executive Committee. The Board may have a standing Finance Committee of at least three Trustees, chaired by the Treasurer. Additional members of the Finance Committee will be appointed by the Chairman of the Board, subject to the approval of a majority vote of the entire Board. More detail on the functions and procedures of Board committees can be found in the Bylaws in Attachment 34.

Any individual or group may bring complaints to the Board of Trustees. Complaints must be submitted to the Board at least one week prior to the next scheduled meeting. Complaints submitted later will be addressed at the subsequent meeting. Emergency issues will be dealt with on an as-needed basis. As necessary, the Board may delegate the principal or other responsible party to act upon a complaint and report back to the Board. The complaint policy is described in greater detail in Attachment 39.

20. Governance

(c) Proposed Founding Board of Trustees

Complete the following table for all members of the proposed founding school board, including any currently vacant seats.

A minimum of five members must be identified when the proposal is submitted.

Explain the capacity of this founding board to govern the proposed school and ensure the achievement of its mission, including the relevant skill sets and experiences of the proposed board members.

A list of Trustees is being sent under separate cover.

Please see Attachment 20(a) for a description of the capacity of the founding board to govern the proposed school and ensure the achievement of its mission. The Board will also be assisted by the founding group described in Attachment 1.

There will be at least five members on the Board of Trustees. The chair has assembled a diverse and talented group of board members with educational, management, legal, and financial experience. The board is reflective of a broad range of skills and talents necessary to fulfill financial and fiduciary obligations and ensure that the school is highly successful. The board will also contain a parent representative in a non-voting, ex-officio seat. We will provide the Requests for Information under separate cover.

21. Personnel

(a) Staffing Chart and Rationale

Use the table below to provide a list of all staff positions (instructional and non-instructional) in the school during the first five years of operation and provide a narrative that explains the rationale for your staffing structure and numbers. Identify and distinguish classroom teachers, teaching aides or assistants, special education teachers and ESL teachers, as well as any other specialty teachers.

	Number in Position
	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Year 4	Year 5
Grades Served:	K-1	K-2	K-3	K-4	K-5
Enrollment:	188	249	401	574	689
Position
Lead Teachers	7	10	15	22	27
Associate Teachers	5	7	11	15	19
Specialty Teachers	5	6	10	11	13
Teacher Aides	1	1	1	1	1
Principal	1	1	1	1	1
School Leadership Resident	0	1	1	1	2
Dean of Students	0	0	1	1	1
Business Manager	1	1	1	1	1
Operations Coordinator/Manager	1	1	1	1	1
Office Coordinator	0	0	1	1	1
Community Relations Coordinator/Manager	1	1	1	1	1
Student Achievement Coordinator/Manager	1	1	2	2	2
Total	23	30	46	50	70

The Success Charter Network (SCN) model employs one lead teacher in each classroom. A lead teacher typically has at least three years of classroom experience, New York State teaching certification, and a Master's degree. Each grade level also has associate teachers who have less classroom experience. Associate teachers are shared between grade level teachers and "push in" for small group instruction and individual tutoring. SCN schools also employ specialty teachers such as science teachers, special education teachers, art teachers, chess teachers, music teachers, dance teachers, and athletic coaches.

Before being hired at a Success Charter Network school, teaching applicants participate in a rigorous application process that includes: submission of resume and writing sample, phone interview, personal interview, demo lesson, feedback from school leadership, and reference checks. The school principal then has final decision-making authority in hiring teachers.

In its second year of instruction, the school will also have a school leadership resident. This person assists the principal while being trained and mentored by the Director of Instruction, Instructional Development team, and Director of Literacy at SCN to take over a principal position in a future SCN school.

Lead teachers will have responsibility for a class of students. Their responsibilities shall include, but not be limited to:

- Maintaining and enriching their expertise in the subject area(s) they teach
- Developing lesson plans that ensure the attainment of state learning standards and are aligned with the school's curriculum
- Coordinating lesson plans with other teachers to reinforce student knowledge on an interdisciplinary basis
- Providing direct and indirect instruction
- Creating long-term and short-term plans to address individual student needs
- Preparing students excellently for all required assessments
- Evaluating student progress
- Using data effectively to improve instruction and student learning
- Providing an inviting, exciting, innovative learning environment
- Engaging in effective and appropriate classroom management
- Serving as advisors to students
- Ensuring students with special education, ELL, or gifted needs are serviced at an extremely high level
- Performing other duties, as deemed appropriate, by the principal

Associate teachers will provide assistance to lead teachers and individualized tutoring to meet students' needs. Teacher aides typically work in the kindergarten classrooms performing the lighter duties of the associate teacher. Associate teachers' responsibilities shall include, but not be limited to:

- Maintaining and enriching their expertise in the subject area(s) they teach
- Assisting a lead teacher
- Providing tutoring in both one-on-one and small group settings to meet individual student needs
- Administering assessments to evaluate student progress
- Checking student homework assignments
- Monitoring student behavior in the cafeteria, play yard, and hallways
- Performing general administrative duties for lead teachers
- Serving as advisors to students
- Performing other duties, as deemed appropriate, by the principal

Specialty teachers will teach classes in science, the arts, chess, or physical education. Specialty teachers also include special education teachers. Their responsibilities shall include, but not be limited to:

- Maintaining and enriching their expertise in the subject area(s) they teach
- Developing lesson plans that ensure the attainment of state learning standards and are aligned with the school's curriculum
- Coordinating lesson plans with other teachers to reinforce student knowledge on an interdisciplinary basis
- Providing direct and indirect instruction
- Creating long-term and short-term plans to address individual student needs
- Preparing students excellently for all required assessments
- Evaluating student progress
- Using data effectively to improve student instruction
- Providing an inviting, exciting, innovative learning environment
- Engaging in effective and appropriate classroom management
- Serving as advisors to students
- Serving a student's Individualized Education Program (if applicable)
- Performing other duties, as deemed appropriate, by the principal

The responsibilities of the principal will include, but not be limited to:

- Providing leadership and direction to all school staff members
- Ensuring the highest levels of teaching and learning occur consistently throughout the school
- Hiring, evaluating, and terminating staff members
- Administering scheduling, enrollment, and curriculum
- Ensuring the proper use of student data to drive and improve instruction
- Facilitating parent involvement
- Making formal reports to the Board of Trustees, the Success Charter Network, and the charter entity
- Implementing the school policies and procedures as directed by the Board of Trustees
- Managing the delivery of services to students requiring special education and ELL services
- Managing the tutoring program for students who are academically behind their peers as well as the accelerated learning tutoring program for gifted students
- Monitoring and improving the quality of all components of the SCN curriculum including literacy, mathematics, discovery science, social studies, arts, chess, and physical education
- Providing a safe learning environment
- Setting academic and fiscal priorities
- Assisting SCN in the training and mentoring of school leadership residents

- Providing guidance and support to teachers to improve instruction

The responsibilities of the school leadership resident will include, but not be limited to:

- Developing lesson plans and providing quality instruction to assigned classes in their area of expertise; this teaching will comprise fifty percent of their time
- Mastering the SCN curriculum
- Mastering the proper usage of student data to drive and improve instruction
- Mastering the successful teacher observation and feedback process
- Mastering the SCN culture
- Participating in mentoring activities with SCN staff and SCN school principals

The responsibilities of the dean of students will include, but not be limited to:

- Raising academic standards and student achievement
- Reinforcing the school's culture and core values
- Monitoring students' behavior inside and outside of the classroom
- Support the faculty by addressing behavior problems
- Managing the school's discipline program, including suspensions and detentions
- Coordinating Saturday Academy
- Managing parent interactions
- Planning and executing scholar assemblies and family events

The Business Manager is responsible for overseeing all non-instructional operations and communications of a Success Academy. The Business Manager will collaborate closely with school leadership and manage the back office team within his or her school. Responsibilities include:

- Manage a team of back office personnel
- Plan logistics for school-wide events including family academic nights, field trips, hearing and vision tests, school picture days, and flu shots
- Establish arrival, breakfast, lunch, recess, dismissal, and class transition procedures
- Monitor procurement and manage school budget
- Determine staff scheduling for back office
- Oversee parent communication, supplies procurement, and building maintenance
- Manage student data collection and information updates
- Develop a system for scheduling during the school day around available facilities and co-tenants
- Negotiate shared space with co-tenants
- Maintain school health and safety protocols, including school safety plan and fire drill routes

The responsibilities of the operations coordinator/manager shall include, but not be limited to:

- Anticipate and prevent maintenance and cleanliness issues
- Coordinate school procurement and get needed supplies to staff in a timely fashion

- Ensure school safety agent is on premises and performing job adequately when needed
- Ensure fire drills happen when necessary and appropriate
- Ensure compliance with necessary laws and regulations related to school food
- Ensure students and staff have access to appropriate food in a timely fashion in a clean cafeteria
- Manage basic technology needs at school level
- Ensuring the school operates in compliance with all federal, state, and local laws as well as its charter
- Creating and maintaining a school emergency response plan

The responsibilities of the community relations coordinator/manager shall include, but not be limited to:

- Being the first point of contact for all visitors to the school
- Preparing weekly fliers announcing upcoming events for student families
- Answering the telephone in the main office and taking messages or forwarding calls as appropriate
- Creating graphs from data of student attendance
- Maintaining a system for incoming and outgoing mail and facsimiles
- Ensuring the office is clean, organized, and stocked with necessary supplies
- Tracking student attendance
- Maintaining student files
- Attending to minor student health needs
- Planning and coordinating student field studies

Qualifications of all teachers of the school will include:

- Relentless commitment to academic excellence
- Dedication to the Success Charter Network's mission, culture, and values
- Relevant teaching experience, preferably in an urban setting
- Demonstrated ability to engage students and deliver effective instruction
- Commitment to data-driven instruction
- High level of organization and resourcefulness
- Prior success
- Excellent oral and written communication skills
- College degree, advanced degrees, certifications
- Recommendations from previous employers

Qualifications of a successful school principal, school leadership resident, and dean of students include:

- Demonstrated commitment to student academic excellence

- High standards for themselves, their staff, and their students
- A strong fit and dedication to the Success Charter Network's mission, goals, culture, and values
- Great understanding of curriculum, lesson planning, and effective lesson delivery
- Comfort with integrating technology into instruction
- Ability to coach and move teacher practice
- Teaching and leadership experience, especially in an urban setting
- Commitment to data-driven instruction
- Experience hiring and managing employees
- High level of organization and resourcefulness
- Strong ability to multi-task, handle numerous tasks, and set priorities effectively
- Exemplary oral and written communication skills and sophisticated analytical analysis
- Strong interpersonal skills and the ability to thrive in a collaborative environment
- College degree, advanced degrees, and certifications
- Recommendations from prior employers, colleagues, and employees

21. Personnel

(c) Management

Explain the management structure of the school. Your response should address:

- Roles and responsibility for managing at least the academic program, finances, hiring and operations;
- Management practices and procedures, i.e., how the school will set priorities and make key organizational decisions;
- If the school will work with a management organization, explain the relationship between employees of the school and that organization; and
- Evaluation procedures for staff in management positions.

The proposed school will be governed by the Board of Trustees. The principal will have been presented to the Board of Trustees by the Success Charter Network (SCN). The principal reports to SCN and to the Board of Trustees, who are responsible for evaluating the principal's performance each year. The Success Charter Network is responsible for coaching and supporting the principal and assisting with the day-to-day operations of the school. The principal is an at-will employee whose yearly renewal status is contingent upon the approval of both the SCN and the Board of Trustees.

The principal is the school leader responsible for implementing the mission and policies set by the Board of Trustees and supervises a staff that includes a dean of students beginning in year 3 who is responsible for student discipline and culture, a school leadership resident beginning in year 2, and the teaching staff. The school leadership resident assists in the supervision of the teaching staff, but the principal will be the final authority. Additionally, there is an operations team at the school that, in its first year, consists of a business manager, operations coordinator, community relations coordinator, and student achievement coordinator. These four individuals are responsible for all non-instructional operations and administration at the school. They all report to the principal, though the business manager is largely managed by SCN. In subsequent years, this operational team will expand by two additional coordinators to share in the school's non-instructional duties.

The Success Charter Network works actively and closely with the principal to see that the Success Charter Network curriculum is implemented effectively and that the teaching staff is given effective professional development, coaching, and feedback. SCN has an extremely hands-on approach and does not manage its schools from a distance. Members of the SCN staff are a regular presence at the school coaching, observing, and providing feedback. The Chief Executive Officer, Chief Operating Officer, Director of Literacy and Director of Instruction spend a significant portion of their time in the schools and participate in all correspondence going to and from school leaders and teachers related to instruction. This allows them to identify best practices that should be implemented at multiple schools as well as potential problems before they become serious. Similarly, the Chief Operating Officer and Director of Operations participate in all email discussions related to school operations to ensure that innovative ideas are implemented and replicated and potential problems are caught immediately.

SCN also provides opportunities for the principal to visit and learn from high-performing schools both within and without its network of schools. It provides the principal with professional development opportunities designed to enhance his leadership, management, and pedagogical skills. SCN also regularly examines the school's performance data and holds the principal directly accountable for the success of the school. SCN expects all of its schools and employees to be in a state of constant improvement working towards competitive greatness, and its interactions with and accountability standards for the school principal will reflect that expectation. SCN uses these extensive interactions and examinations of school performance data to make an informed and accurate report to the Board regarding the principal's performance at the school. Please refer to Attachment 41 for a detailed explanation of the performance management system.

A more detailed explanation of the duties and can be found in Attachment 19.

The Success Charter Network has entered into a contract with the Board of Trustees to provide prescribed services to the school. SCN reports directly to the Board and regularly provides the Board with updates and data related to the performance of its contracted services. Examples of information SCN provides to the Board include number of applicants applied, interviewed, and recommended for hire, student recruitment goals and figures, school budgeting forecasting, and special education compliance reports.

21. Personnel

(b) School Leader

Describe the qualifications required for your school leader.

- If you have already identified a school leader, explain the process that was used to recruit this person and the criteria that were used to select him or her. In addition, attach a resume or biography for this person.

- If you have not yet identified a school leader, explain the process and criteria that will be used to select this person, including who will be involved and the role of the board (and management organization, if any) in the process.

Qualifications of a successful school principal or school leadership resident include, but are not limited to:

- Demonstrated commitment to student academic excellence
- High standards for themselves, their staff, and their students
- A strong fit and dedication to the Success Charter Network's mission, goals, culture, and values
- Teaching and leadership experience, especially in an urban setting
- Commitment to data-driven instruction
- Experience hiring and managing employees
- High level of organization and resourcefulness
- Strong ability to multi-task, handle numerous tasks, and set priorities effectively
- Exemplary oral and written communication skills and sophisticated analytical analysis
- Strong interpersonal skills and the ability to thrive in a collaborative environment
- College degree, advanced degrees, and certifications
- Recommendations from prior employers, colleagues, and employees

A school leader has not yet been chosen for the proposed school, and the Human Resources team at SCN will manage the search. Hundreds of qualified resumes will be sourced through various methods, including major and niche job board websites, educational career fairs, and third-party recruitment firms. All resumes are reviewed by at least two HR recruiters, and the best of the candidates are contacted for an initial phone screening. Those candidates who move forward are invited to meet with members of the HR team for an interview. The best of these candidates then come for a daylong trial at an SCN school, during which they will meet with grade-level teams, other school-level staff members, school leaders, and the Chief Executive Officer of SCN. Panels of staff, faculty, and leaders will observe and critique the candidates as they teach a demonstration lesson and perform sample tasks such as teacher evaluations and lesson critiques. If the candidates receive positive reviews, HR, in collaboration with SCN instructional development staff, conduct an in-depth review of the candidate's instructional data from their current school and may visit their school to see first-hand what they have created. If the candidate, SCN, and the proposed school choose to move forward, all references are checked, and principal candidates are submitted to the board for approval; leadership resident candidates are subsequently submitted to the principal for approval. Finally, an offer is extended to the qualified candidate.

SCN will also continuously develop internal leadership candidates and promote from within. Each year, SCN has a cohort of leadership residents who are training to become principals.

Leadership candidates are expected to possess expertise and leadership experience in elementary education within an urban setting. They must be able to quantify their success, teaching prowess, and leadership ability with a history of measurable results. Candidates must also be committed to the school's unique vision of data-driven instruction and personal and professional excellence.

21. Personnel

(d) Staff Recruitment and Retention

Describe how you will recruit and retain staff, particularly high quality teachers. Your response should provide:

- The qualifications you will require of teachers and other staff;
- The process you will use to recruit and hire teachers and other staff; and
- The strategies you will use to retain high quality teachers.

Note: Personal policies will be submitted separately as Attachment 41.

While the school principal has the final authority to hire and fire staff members, the recruitment team at the Success Charter Network devotes countless hours to attracting, screening, and recommending for hire the strongest candidates for teachers, school leaders, and other school personnel. Candidates are sourced nation-wide through job postings, outreach initiatives, partnerships with educational organizations, career fairs, on-site events, and an incentive-driven referral program. The application/interview process involves:

- Application submission with resume and specific, thoughtful cover letter
- Initial screen of selected resumes by assigned recruiter
- Additional screening of selected resumes by peer recruiter
- Phone interview
- In person interview
- Demo lesson and/or trial day
- Interview with school leadership
- Reference and background check
- Job offer

During the course of the application/interview process, the recruitment team is looking for the following qualifications:

- Relentless commitment to academic excellence
- Dedication to the Success Charter Network's mission, culture, and values
- Great understanding of curriculum, lesson planning, and effective lesson delivery
- Comfort with integrating technology into instruction
- Ability to coach and move teacher practice
- Relevant teaching experience, preferably in an urban setting
- Demonstrated ability to engage students and deliver effective instruction

- Commitment to data-driven instruction
- High level of organization and resourcefulness
- Prior success
- Excellent oral and written communication skills
- College degree, advanced degrees, certifications
- Recommendations from previous employers

Success Charter Network maintains the highest standards for hiring the best teachers. Should a teacher's performance fall short of expectations, they are immediately assigned an aggressive performance improvement plan and given extra support and attention for the duration of the plan and after its conclusion. The top tier of Success Charter Network's teachers are identified throughout the year by means of a performance management system that measures student growth rates combined with the teacher's achievement of school-wide academic and culture goals. These high quality teachers are retained through a compensation model that rewards measured success and they are given opportunities to move into positions of more responsibility, including grade team lead and leadership resident.

21. Personnel

(e) Staff Input

Please describe how staff will be involved in the charter school, in particular, in the governance and management of the charter school.

The Success Charter Network has an extensive recruitment and interview process to ensure its schools have talented staff members who are dedicated to the school's mission and its scholars' success. Therefore, staff members are expected to do much more than just teach. They are expected to help develop and implement the school model. They assist in the creation of the curriculum, the school schedule, and the school assessment and data-analysis plans.

Success Charter Network schools are set up as collaborative environments. While the principal has the power and skill to make tough decisions and lead the team, teacher input and leadership is expected at all levels of decision making. Teachers are not expected to be passive employees accepting management decisions. They are invested in the school and its students, so they are given the opportunity to participate in shared reflection, problem solving, and planning with the school leadership. This will occur both in weekly professional development meetings, professional development workshop days throughout the year, and in individual meetings between faculty members and leaders.

22. Parent Involvement

Describe how the school will involve parents in the education of their child and in the governance and operation of the school.

Parental involvement in a child's education is a cornerstone of the Success Charter Network's educational philosophy. While the Board does not believe in asking parents to fundraise, the school will ask and hopes for them to be involved in their children's academic, developmental, and psychological success. Parents will be directly involved in their child's education every night as they are strongly encouraged to check their child's homework for completion and accuracy and read a story with their child every night. They will be invited and strongly encouraged to attend family academic events which will likely include family reading nights, family math nights, science fairs, chess tournaments, dance recitals, and soccer games. These events are important and well liked as demonstrated by the fact that attendance at family academic events at the existing Success Academies exceeds 97% (year to date).

Parents will be in regular communication with teachers and school administrators regarding their child's academic progress and performance. They will be given the mobile phone number of their child's teachers and all of the school administrators. The school will have an open door policy that allows parents to visit and meet with school staff on a regular basis. Additionally, the school will have a policy that all messages left by parents on voice mail are to be returned by a school staff person within one business day.

Each class will have a set of class parents that will work with the school to organize school and class events, including finding chaperones for field studies, find classroom volunteers to assist the teacher as necessary, and plan special celebrations for the students. Parents will be asked to speak at important school events such as convocation, the admissions lottery, and the success stories ceremony.

An elected Parent Council will help organize family events, help plan and chaperone meaningful field study experiences, and address parent questions and concerns with the school leadership. The Parent Council will also support the parent body in achieving school culture goals.

One parent of a student currently enrolled in the school will serve as a non-voting ex-officio member of the school's Board of Trustees, giving the parents a voice in school governance decisions.

23. Community Support and Demand

(a) District Support
Describe any explicit support for this proposal from the district in which the school intends to be located and provide supporting evidence. In addition, describe the school's intended strategies for establishing and maintaining an ongoing relationship with the local school district, including any foreseen opportunities or challenges.

Thousands of parents have expressed their deep support for a new Success Academy in their neighborhood and have signed petitions demanding that this option be made available to them. We have more than 1,500 petition signatures for each proposed school from parents and community members in each school's respective district. Nearly 5,000 parents and community members support these new schools opening in their neighborhood. Success Charter Network has a good relationship with the local school district. Success Charter Network will attend the February 2011 Community Education Council and Community Board meetings for Districts 13 and 14. Success Charter Network will continue to maintain those relationships.

(b) Community Support
Describe any explicit support for this proposal from community stakeholders or others and provide supporting evidence.

More than 1,500 parents have signed a petition demanding to have a Success Academy in their neighborhood. Nearly 5,000 parents and community members support these new schools opening in the neighborhood.

(c) Student Demand
Describe the student demand for the school that would allow you to meet your intended enrollment figures and provide supporting evidence.

For the 2010-2011 school year, Success Charter Network had 7,000 applications for just 1,100 spaces at our Success Academy Charter schools. The high demand is city-wide, as well: the New York City Charter School Center estimates that there were 58,000 applications for just 11,800 seats in charter schools for the 2010-2011 school year. SCN has a robust recruitment process and is confident that it can meet our intended enrollment figures. In the early weeks of the recruitment season for the 2011-2012 school year, we have already seen a 38% increase above last year's already high totals. We have begun outreach in District 14 for Brooklyn Success Academy 1 which is in the same school district as two of the proposed schools and have received incredibly positive feedback from daycare center directors and parents.

(d) Proposal Opposition
Describe any known opposition to this proposal, including the individuals or organizations and their rationale for opposing your school, and explain any efforts you have made to address or respond to their concerns. Indicate whether opposition to your school could impede your ability to successfully implement your program and, if so, how you intend to overcome those challenges.

Currently, there is no opposition to this proposal.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

DISTRICT 14

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 13.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.

WINTER 2011

Success Charter Network plans to open a free, public charter school in Brooklyn that will serve students in kindergarten through eighth grade. SCN will operate nine high-performing schools across New York City in the 2011-2012 school year. Parent demand for these schools is so high that there were over 7,000 applicants for just 1,100 spots last year. SCN recruits dedicated and talented teachers who teach students to work hard and go to college. The school has a safe learning environment, a longer school day, a high level of parental involvement, and a proven track record. Please sign below if you would be interested in sending your child to this school or would support this school opening in District 14.
