INTRODUCTION

Amendments to the New York Charter Schools Act of 1998 (as amended, the “Act”) in 2010, permit charter school education corporations to operate more than one charter school. Two or more existing education corporations may elect to merge into one education corporation with the authority to operate multiple charter schools pursuant to New York Education Law §§ 2852(7) and 2853(1)(b-1), and Article 9 of the New York Not-For Profit Corporation Law. Merger can benefit the schools involved by allowing common governance, common oversight, common financial accounting, shared educational programming and resources, and improved student access to the schools under the education corporation. The following guidance discusses the documents and procedures necessary to prepare for merger of education corporations, the documents required and guidance as to operations after merger has become effective.

Schools authorized by the State University of New York Board of Trustees (the “SUNY Trustees”) may merge with other SUNY authorized schools or schools authorized by the New York State Board of Regents (the “Board of Regents”), the New York City Schools Chancellor (the “NYCDOE”) or any school district (e.g., Buffalo City School District). A SUNY authorized education corporation may be the one remaining (successor) corporation or may be one of the corporations that merges into another authorizer’s education corporation. In the latter case, the SUNY authorized school would be a constituent corporation.

All SUNY authorized charter schools involved in a merger should submit revision materials to the SUNY Charter Schools Institute (the “Institute”). When a non-SUNY school would merge with a SUNY school, a revision request must also be submitted to the other authorizer. Ultimately, all mergers must be submitted to the Board of Regents for final approval. In the case of all-SUNY merger, the merger may be approved by operation of law without Board of Regents’ approval. Please note, the request for merger of charter school education corporations is made directly to the authorizer(s). There is no requirement to seek permission from the New York State Attorney General. This Guidance is largely written from the perspective that a SUNY authorized school will be the surviving corporation.

The Institute recommends consulting legal counsel to assist in drafting the appropriate documents for merger and to ensure the proper procedures are followed. A request for merger, complete with all supporting documents, should be submitted approximately six months prior to the proposed date the schools wish the merger to become effective. For financial audit purposes, the most common effective date for merger is July 1

1 Portions applicable to education corporations per N.Y. Educ. Law § 216-a.

2 Education Law § 2852(5-a).

3 This time frame is a recommendation only based on the following. Pursuant to the Act, the school district(s) in which each charter school is located must hold a public hearing to solicit comments from the community. The school district(s) must then be given an opportunity to comment on the proposed merger to the charter authorize for consideration. Educ. Law § 2857. In addition, the Act grants the Board of Regents 90 days to respond to the proposed merger. See Educ. Law §§ 2852(5-a), (5-b).
A. Applicable Laws and Regulations

- New York Education Law § 2853(1)(b-1)
- New York Not-for-Profit Corporation Law §§ 901-904
- Education Law § 2852(7)
- Charter Agreement §§ 5.1, 8.9

I. BENEFITS TO MERGER

Once a merger is complete the schools under the one education corporation may enjoy the following benefits:

- Common governance. A sole board of trustees can govern two or more schools eliminating the need to have multiple education corporations formed with the same board members. Paperwork and compliance burdens are reduced when one board can make decisions across a number of schools.

- Common oversight and handling of finances. The resources of the several schools can be pooled and directed to appropriately oversee the finances of all the schools in the one successor education corporation. Smaller and newer schools are not restricted by their enrollment in access to resources for programs, financial oversight, etc. because of reduced income. In addition, the education corporation can have one outside audit performed on the financial statements of the sole education corporation with supplemental audited financial schedules for each chartered school. This is a key cost savings over having an audit for each separate charter school, especially when the financial policies, reporting systems and internal controls may have been intentionally designed to be the same. A common education corporation budget can be developed each year with schedules for each school that would allow the education corporation to direct and share resources amongst schools in a way that was previously difficult or impossible. The single education corporation with more employees also has increased buying power in purchasing employee benefits, insurance, technology, educational materials, services and commodities, and may be better positioned for financing charter school facilities. The single education corporation will have only one EIN (employer identification number), one federal and one state tax exemption letter/certificate, and file one Form 990 each year with the Internal Revenue Service.

- Shared educational programming and resources. Merger allows several schools the ability to share programs and staff between schools, which may be the most significant educational advantage of merger. Students with disabilities or English language learners can now be integrated from different schools into classes at one site and receive the appropriate setting, resources and instructors. Merged schools can locate a specific students with disabilities or other class in any one of the schools and serve at-risk students from across all of its schools. Similarly, teachers who previously may have taught part-time at more than one school, or were shared by contract between schools, can be hired full time by the education corporation and be deployed as needed.
• Improved student access. As students must be admitted to a charter school through a lottery, access to charter schools has always been limited even for schools in the same “networks” or under common management through a charter management organization. Charter schools students receive a returning student statutory preference under the Act that allows them to return each year, but does not allow any admissions preference for another charter school. Merger allows schools within an education corporation to share certain preferences across schools. For example, a sibling preference for an all-boys school may be used by a female sibling to gain admission to an all-girls school within the same corporation. In addition, an education corporation operating multiple schools can accept students into any one of their schools so long as there are seats without the parents having to apply to multiple schools, or can have parents rank top choices. The result is greater access to charter school education.

• Enrollment pattern flexibility. Middle and high schools require greater resources than many single site charter schools can afford. Merger allows separate schools to legally combine to found middle and high schools where the existing elementary schools can legally direct students with the returning student preference. Similarly, an education corporation operating multiple schools with higher grades may provide parents choice options for middle or high school that were not previously permitted.

II. TIMING OF EFFECTIVE DATE AND LETTER OF INTENT FOR MERGER

While there is no specific timeline under the law for submitting documents in order to merge education corporations, the Institute strongly suggests the following timeline. The merger documents normally state that the merger will become effective on July 1st or, if approval comes after July 1st, the first of the next fiscal quarter. For accounting and other corporate purposes, many corporations wish to have a July 1st start date to coincide with the fiscal year as well as school year. This timeline was created to best allow for a July 1st merger effective date.

- November 30th Letter of Intent for Merger Due
- December 31st Plan of Merger Due
- January Review of Submission Documents by Institute
- February – March Plan of Merger voted on by SUNY Trustees
- March 31st Documents submitted to New York State Education Department (“NYSED”) for Action by Board of Regents
- July 1st Effective date of Merged Education Corporation/start of fiscal year
III. LETTER OF INTENT

To allow the Institute to appropriately plan for and allocate resources for merger review, the Institute requests the education corporations seeking to merge submit a Letter of Intent by November 30th to the attention of the Institute’s Associate Counsel. The Letter of Intent should include the following:

- names of each education corporation to merge;
- authorizer of each education corporation;
- charter management organization and/or partner organization(s) (if applicable);
- name and contact information for the person handling the submission of the merger documents; and
- name of counsel for each education corporation, if counsel is not submitting documents.

IV. REQUEST FOR MERGER

Once the education corporations seeking to merge have completed the appropriate steps (outlined below), the education corporations must submit the request for merger to the Institute for review. Appendix A provides a checklist for items that must be submitted that will evidence the appropriate process for merger adoption. In the case where only one corporation is SUNY authorized, that corporation submits to SUNY and the other corporation(s) submit to the other authorizer(s). (See section V, below).

a. Rationale for Merger

Please submit a rationale as to why the education corporations seek to merge. The rationale, in addition to stating the reason(s) why merger is sought, should include an explanation regarding how students from the affected schools will benefit from the proposed merger. For example, the schools can create more self-contained classrooms for students with disabilities.

b. Plan of Merger (also referred to as a “Merger Agreement”)

Please submit a Plan of Merger. A Plan of Merger is a written, legal document that expressly lays out the agreement of the education corporations to merge into one education corporation, known as the successor, surviving, resulting or merged education corporation. The Plan of Merger includes the process to be undertaken during the merger proceedings including the right of an education corporation to back out of the agreement prior to its official approval, as well as the terms under which the resulting education corporation will exist and operate.

A Plan of Merger must be drafted, and executed by a representative from each education corporation (known as “constituent corporations”) that is a party to the merger. The education corporations must decide which one education corporation will survive the merger. The resultant education corporation is referred to as the “surviving corporation” in the N.Y. Not-For-Profit Corporation Law ("N-PCL"). The constituent corporations will cease corporate existence on the effective date of the merger while the surviving corporation continues.

The Plan of Merger must provide the following:

- the name of each constituent corporation with the name under which the constituent corporation was originally formed, if different;\(^4\)
- the date that each constituent corporation received its provisional charter from the Board of Regents;
- a statement that each school was chartered pursuant to the N.Y. Charter Schools Act of 1998, as amended, Chapter 4 of the Laws of 1998;\(^5\)
- the name and address of the surviving corporation.\(^6\) The new name may be the same or different from any of the constituent corporations’ names or school names but must still include the words “charter” and “school.” Commonly, the surviving corporation’s name indicates it has the authority to operate multiple schools, i.e., “Sunshine Charter Schools” or “Sunshine Charter School Academies;”
- the terms and conditions of the proposed merger including the manner and basis of converting membership or any other interest in each constituent corporation into membership or interest in the surviving corporation. Usually, there are no corporate members, or each school has the same corporate member. If any of the schools to merge are membership corporations, the membership including their number, classification, and voting rights should be described in the Plan of Merger;
- the number of trustees of the surviving corporation as well as the time of the annual election. This will typically be indicated in the by-laws of the surviving corporation which may be the by-laws of a constituent corporation or newly adopted as part of the merger. The Plan of Merger must indicate or provide the applicable by-laws;
- the proposed trustees of the surviving corporation;
- a requirement that all property, assets, and liabilities of each education corporation vest in and transfer to the surviving corporation;
- an effective date that coincides with the beginning of a fiscal quarter or the fiscal year.\(^7\)

\(^4\) This information is available on each corporation’s provisional charter (certificate of incorporation) issued by the Board of Regents. Please see Appendix B for a sample provisional charter.

\(^5\) The Not-for-Profit Corporation Law requires a statement be made when a merging corporation was formed under “special law.” N-PCL § 904(a)(4). Charter schools are authorized, and their revision permitted, under the special authority of the Act, Educ. Law, Art. 56. As such, the language must be included.

\(^6\) The address is for corporate purposes. It is not necessary to include the address of each school.

\(^7\) Having an effective date as of the beginning of a fiscal year is the most efficient for corporate and financial purposes. As previously stated, the education corporations should take into account the timeline for submission and approval. If approval by the Board of Regents or by operation of law is after the effective date(s) in the Plan of Merger, the later date will be the official effective date.
• a statement identifying any proposed amendments or changes to the provisional charter of the surviving corporation to be affected by the merger. At minimum, this will include the authority for the surviving corporation to operate multiple charter schools as will be set forth in the amended and restated charter agreement drafted by the Institute; and,
• an abandonment clause to allow any constituent corporation to abandon the merger prior to the filing of the Certificate of Merger by the Board of Regents.

c. The Certificate of Merger

Please submit a Certificate of Merger. A Certificate of Merger is the legal instrument under which the terms of the merger are formalized and deemed in effect. The Certificate of Merger must include the following information (some of which is similar to that included in the Plan of Merger):

• the name of each constituent corporation, with the name under which the constituent corporation was originally formed, if different, along with the name of the surviving corporation;
• the date each constituent corporation received its provisional charter from the Board of Regents;
• the effective date of the merger which may not be sooner than the approval by the Board of Regents or by operation of law. This date is typically the beginning of a new fiscal year or at least a fiscal quarter. The language of this portion of the certificate might read as follows: “The merger shall be effective at 12:01 A.M. Eastern Standard Time on July 1, 20__ or the first of the next fiscal quarter;”
• a statement that each school was chartered pursuant to the N.Y. Charter Schools Act of 1998, as amended, Chapter 4 of the Laws of 1998;
• a description of the membership and holders of any certificates evidencing capital contributions or subventions for each constituent corporation must be given including their number, classification, and voting rights; and,
• a statement of any amendments or changes in the certificate of incorporation of the surviving corporation to be effected by the merger. This would automatically include a statement that amends the legal authority of the surviving education corporation to operate more than one school (or teach the same grades at more than one site) under the Act. The language of this portion of the certificate might read as follows: “The Merger has been authorized, as to each Constituent Corporation, pursuant to Education Law Subdivision 2853(1)(b-1), as amended by Section 14 of Chapter 101 of the Laws of 2010.”

8 Similar to a charter agreement, which formalizes the by-laws, code of ethics, and other provisions of operation of a charter school, but only executed by the corporations.

9 Pursuant to Education Law § 2852(5-a), if the Board of Regents does not respond within 90 days after submission by SUNY, the merger will be deemed to have been approved. However, if the Board of Regents returns the Plan of Merger to SUNY, the timeframe will shift. See Educ. Law § 2852(5-b).
d. Public and School Trustee Notice

Please submit evidence the constituent corporations provided the appropriate notice to their trustees and the public. The constituent corporations must provide notice of the meeting to every trustee and member of the constituent corporations, regardless of whether that trustee or member is entitled to vote. The notice to trustees must include a copy of the proposed merger. The trustee/member notice must conform to the by-laws and Education Law § 226(3) (mailed not less than five nor more than 10 days prior to the meeting to the usual address of each trustee). In addition, notice of the meetings must be provided to the public in accordance with the notice provision for all public meetings in the N.Y. Open Meeting Law.\(^{10}\)

e. Corporate Resolution and Verification

Please provide evidence of the constituent corporations’ board approval. Per N-PCL § 903, the Plan of Merger must be approved by the board of each corporation at an open meeting with quorum present called separately and specifically for the purpose of seeking merger approval. While SUNY does not believe Education Law § 223 is strictly applicable to charter school mergers, the Board of Regents requires a three-quarters (3/4) vote of the trustees present at each board meeting; and SUNY has agreed to this requirement. Resolutions from each constituent corporation must clearly evidence approval and delegate a single trustee or officer from each constituent corporation the responsibility to execute the Plan of Merger and accompanying documents. In addition, each constituent corporation must provide verification of the approval of the Plan of Merger. Verification must be execute by each constituent corporation’s current chairperson and secretary.

f. Student Enrollment Tables

Please provide a five year, student enrollment table for the surviving education corporation including the student enrollment of all schools the surviving education corporation will have the authority to operate as well as five year, student enrollment table for each individual school. The individual enrollment tables should be consistent with the overall education corporation’s enrollment table. A student enrollment table template may be found at http://www.newyorkcharters.org/merger-replication-policy/.

g. Five Year Budget

Please provide a five year budget for the surviving education corporation showing all schools it will have the authority to operate. A template may be found here Five Year Budget Template.

\(^{10}\) N.Y. Pub. Off. Law § 104.
h. Revisions

Merger is an opportune time to align procedures, programming and policies across schools. The education corporation will have terms of operation that will apply across the schools it has the authority to operate. Through merger there will be one set of by-laws and one code of ethics. The education corporation may indicate other policies it would like as a term of operation to apply across all schools. For instance, the schools may operate under the same admissions or discipline policies. Some education corporations may find this convenient as there will not be multiple policies to keep track of and update. Another common update is done to the Financial Policy and Procedures Manual to detail the effects of merger on the financial reporting systems and authorization and approval structures. The education corporations should indicate and provide any such materials at the time of the merger submission.

III. PROCESSING OF MERGER

Once the education corporations submit the request(s) for merger, the Institute will check the requests for completeness and make a determination as to whether it will recommend the merger to the SUNY Trustees or requires additional information. A request for merger is a material revision, therefore, the Institute will provide notice to the public and all school districts for which schools of the proposed merger are located.

The Institute conducts a legal, fiscal and academic performance review of the constituent corporations when a SUNY authorized school would be the surviving corporation, which may include site visits. The Institute will ask non-SUNY schools to provide student academic performance, disciplinary and enrollment and retention targets information as well as fiscal information. Based on SUNY’s Replication Policies, the Institute will not recommend for merger any school that is facing non-renewal. A merger which would cause a SUNY school to not be fiscally viable will also not be recommended by the Institute. The Institute will forward positive recommendations to the SUNY Trustees’ Charter Schools Committee, which shall vote on the matter. If the Charter Schools Committee approves the merger, the Institute will process and submit to the Board of Regents.

The Institute provides a new charter agreement (designated “amended and restated”), executed by the Institute and the current board chair of the surviving corporation. If the merger occurs during the current charter term of the surviving corporation, the Institute will issue a charter agreement providing the surviving corporation with the authority to operate all constituent schools. The authority to operate each individual school, with the dates through which the authority runs, will be stated in Schedule 1 of the charter agreement. If the merger coincides with the renewal of the surviving corporation, then the merger will be incorporated into the new renewal charter. The new charter agreement will include the complete Terms of Operation for the surviving education corporation as a whole, as well as the Terms of Operation of each constituent school. Corporate / governance related terms may be included in the corporate Terms of Operation, such as organization charts, overall enrollment, and fiscal policies. The merged entity can choose what other terms will apply to all schools and what terms may still differ. The education corporations can provide this information with the submission as an amendment. (See above). For instance, one merged education corporation may provide a sole admissions policy, while another may provide a different admissions policy for each constituent school. This is an opportunity for the education corporation to choose to standardize certain terms, and that should be made clear to SUNY upon submission of the merger documents.

The Institute may provide other amendments to the existing charter agreement of the surviving education corporation such as additional assurances and terms for the education corporation as a whole or for individual schools (as appropriate), special education assurances for each school in the education corporation (typically found in a single document), and any other amendments as required by the authorizer. For compliance, SUNY uses only one monitoring plan for all the schools of the surviving corporation.

V. DIFFERENT AUTHORIZERS

If one or more of the education corporations seeking to merge is authorized by a charter authorizer other than SUNY, then a merger revision application must be submitted to the other authorizer as well. Basically, the same information would be provided, but less information is needed by the outgoing authorizer. The non-SUNY merger revision must be approved by both the authorizer and (if the authorizer is not the Board of Regents) by the Board of Regents. Such revisions cannot be approved by operation of law under SUNY’s authority in the Act. Please contact the authorizer for timelines and content necessary for the approval of a merger revision. Questions regarding such mergers can be directed to the Institute.

VI. FUTURE OPERATIONS

a. Accountability

Per SUNY policy, accountability resides at the school level, not at the education corporation level. The merger will not change the accountability requirements of any individual SUNY authorized school the education corporation has the authority to operate. Each school will continue with its current accountability plan in terms of content and timing. An education corporation can only be granted the authority to operate each school for up to five years. Therefore, each school must still apply for renewal under its accountability plan on the same schedule.

Any Board of Regents or NYCDOE-authorized charter school that is merging with a SUNY-authorized charter school will be required to adopt SUNY’s accountability plan as a part of the merger. The timing of renewal decisions will, however, still take place on the prior authorizer’s schedule. As schools that merge into SUNY authorized schools are new to SUNY oversight, such schools will be treated as schools coming to renewal for the first time under the SUNY Renewal Policies, even if they have been previously renewed. This means they will be eligible for a short-term or a full-term renewal.

That said the education corporation may wish to rethink its accountability pathways upon merger. An accountability pathway is the enrollment growth and students the individual school is responsible for upon renewal. Typically, there are three types of accountability pathways: (1) Straight Pathways with Separate Sites; (2) Straight Pathways with Combined Sites; and, (3) Feeder Pathways.

1. Straight Pathways with Separate Sites

Four stand-alone education corporations may each operate a school serving grades K-12. Each school may operate an elementary, middle and high school at its own sites giving each school three physical sites. Each school has an accountability plan for its K-12 grades. Upon renewal, each school is accountable for its own K-12 grades. Upon merger, the four schools may continue to operate separately and be accountable separately. The chart below shows schools with straight accountability pathways.

12 For more information about SUNY accountability plans see www.newyorkcharters.org/category/operational-resources/accountability/

14 Colors represent an individual school. Therefore, each color represents an individual Accountability Plan for which the individual school will be renewed.
2. Straight Pathways with Combined Sites

Four stand-alone education corporations may each operate schools with grades K-12. Each school may operate its own elementary and middle school site, but due to cost, share its high school site and operate the high school as one site by contract. (Please note that this is not co-location of the high school students but all schools’ students attending the same high school program). Each school still has a separate accountability plan for its K-12 grades. In other words, the high school program would have four separate accountability plans tied to it. Upon renewal, each school is accountability for its own K-12 grades as measured by individual student performance. Upon merger, the four schools may continue this arrangement without the need for a contract (or change it to have one school “own” the high school for purposes of accountability (see below)). The chart below shows straight pathways with combined sites.

3. Feeder Pathways

Four stand-alone education corporations may each operate schools serving grades K-12. Once merged, the surviving corporation may wish to combine schools and feed into larger programs. Upon merger, the education corporation may operate a number of elementary schools that feed a lesser number of middle schools that feed one (or a lesser number of) high school(s).
Instead of any one site having multiple accountability plans attached to it, each school can take responsibility for different sets of students at different sites. The chart below shows feeder pathways with separate sites. One school may be accountable for a set of grades K-12 while another is accountable for a set of grades K-8 while the remaining two schools are only accountable for an elementary school each. Note that a new charter is not required for the combined middle or high schools.

![Feeder Pathways Chart]

b. Fiscal Responsibility of Merged Education Corporation

1. Close Out Financial Statements

After the merger, each education corporation is required to provide to the Institute a close out financial statement showing the final balances on the close out date of each constituent corporation and the related opening balances on the effective date for the surviving corporation. The combined totals of the individual education corporation close out balances must equal the opening balances on the effective date of the surviving corporation. Auditor prepared work papers containing the close out balances and related surviving corporation opening balances is sufficient documentation to provide to the Institute.

2. Initial Statement Process

The Initial Statement process is an accountant review process where the education corporation engages outside professionals to review internal controls and fiscal policies and procedures. Each newly chartered school generally meets the Initial Statement requirements in the charter.
agreement. Education corporations with the authority to operate multiple schools that have already undertaken the Initial Statement process do not have to repeat the process for each new school, per § 5.1(f) of the Charter Agreement, so long as the education corporation provides an assurance to the Institute as follows.

- The education corporation’s board must specifically delegate authority to its Treasurer, or an employee or agent of the education corporation (as documented in a resolution or minutes of a board meeting) to provide an assurance to the Institute regarding managerial and financial controls.
- The assurance must certify to SUNY that substantially similar financial controls have been instituted by the education corporation for the new school in accordance with § 5.1(f) of the Charter Agreement.

If the education corporation cannot or does not provide such a certification, then the education corporation will have to undergo the Initial Statement process for each new school.

3. Quarterly Interim Reports

All financial statements that the merged education corporation is required to prepare shall be in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) then in effect for not-for-profit corporations. During each year of operation, the merged education corporation shall prepare and submit to the Institute within forty-five (45) days of the end of each quarter of its fiscal year an unaudited statement of income and expenses for that preceding quarter in such form and electronic format as prescribed and disseminated by the Institute and currently available through the website of the Institute to include, but not be limited to, the aggregated statements for the merged education corporation as determined by the Institute. In addition, the merged education corporation must submit a separate statement of income and expenses for each school included under the merged entity.

4. Audits

The merged education corporation shall retain an independent certified public accountant or certified public accounting firm licensed in New York to perform annually an audit of the merged education corporation’s annual financial statements. The independent audit of the merged education corporation’s financial statements must be performed in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards (GAAS) and Government Auditing Standards (GAS) issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, as well as any additional requirements and guidelines provided by the Institute to include certain information, schedules and testing related to each school operated by the merged education corporation. The audited financial statements must be submitted to the Institute by November 1 of each year. In addition, and pursuant to the same timetable, the merged education corporation must require its independent certified public accountant to issue a report on compliance with laws, regulations, contracts and grants and internal controls over financial reporting, based on its audit of the financial statements. The merged education corporation must submit this report to the Institute together with a corrective plan addressing any weakness or problems identified in the planning and performance of the audit. The corrective plan must address each suggestion for consideration of management contained in the compliance report and include a timetable that identifies the date by which each corrective step will have been completed. All documents required to be submitted shall be submitted electronically in accordance with guidance published on the website of the Institute.

On an annual basis the merged education corporation must submit one audit report containing a combined balance sheet and combined statement of income and expenses. The audit report must include a separate statement of income and expenses for each school within the merged education corporation; the purpose is to show individual school’s operating income or loss for each year. In addition, the audit report must include in the notes to the financial statements detail regarding any payment of monies from the education corporation to any school in excess of the income from that school, and detail the reason. A benefit of a merged education corporation is the flexibility of having the education corporation or one school pay expenses of another but those transactions need to be identified in the notes to the financial statements. The Institute requires that audit reports be submitted in .pdf format and excel templates for the merged education corporation balance sheets and statement of income and expenses. The Institute uploads the excel spreadsheets into the SUNY Fiscal Dashboard for financial analysis. The merged education corporation will need to submit a completed excel spreadsheet template for each individual school’s statement of income and expenses only.

Annual Budgets

The merged education corporation shall prepare and provide to the SUNY Trustees a copy of its annual budgets and cash flow projections for (i) the merged education corporation as a whole, and (ii) each school, each fiscal year by no later than June 30 of the immediately preceding fiscal year. All annual budgets and cash flow projections shall be in such form and electronic format as prescribed and disseminated by the SUNY Trustees, which will be available on the website of the Institute.

For a new school within the merged education corporation that is entering its first year of instruction, the annual budget shall be provided by August 1 of such year in the event that the budget or projection differs in any material respect from that set forth in the Terms of Operation for that school in the Charter Agreement.

5. Dissolution Funds

16 Institute Fiscal Resources are available at: www.newyorkcharters.org/category/operational-resources/fiscal-operations/
Per Charter Agreement § 8.9, the merged education corporation must create a dissolution reserve fund or account for purposes of school closure and/or dissolution of the education corporation in an amount to be determined as follows:

- seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) per school for each of the first two (2) schools operated by the education corporation to be funded, at a minimum, by reserving twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) per year during the first three (3) years of operation of each school;
- twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) per school for each additional school operated by the education corporation to be reserved in the first year of operation of each school up to a maximum of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000).

The amended and restated charter agreement will clearly detail this requirement.

c. School Operations

While there is only one education corporation post-merger, each school the education corporation has the authority to operate will still have its own Basic Educational Data System ("BEDS") number with the New York State Department of Education.

The merged education corporation will bill districts for all schools it operates under the surviving education corporation’s EIN. Just as before the merger, each school’s projected enrollment and billing must be provided un-aggregated to the district. In New York City, billing may still be under each individual school name but the vendor EIN number would be that of the merged education corporation.

d. Future Agreements

Please note that once the merger takes effect, there is only one education corporation. Therefore, there is only one legal entity. The constituent corporations cease to exist. After the merger, the surviving corporation is the only legal entity that may enter into legal agreements. The surviving corporation has only one EIN. There is only one corporation with federal and state tax exemption. Please note this distinction when applying for or entering into agreements on behalf of any school the education corporation is granted authority to operate.

e. Replication

SUNY’s Request for Proposals (RFP) presents a pathway for an existing charter school education corporation (whether merged or not) to operate a new school and for a new education corporation to be formed that would operate more than one school. The Act states that an “education corporation operating a charter school shall be authorized to operate more than one school . . . provided that a charter must be issued for each such additional school . . . in accordance with the requirement for issuance of a charter pursuant to [Article 56]. . . .”¹⁷ This would be completed through a formal application for a charter through the RFP process or the previous application process in the Act.

Please refer to the most current SUNY RFP for further discussion as to these options.
